JAPANESE AND CHINESE REPLY TO LAST NOTE

Ambassador Charles G. Dawes would not discuss rumors that a conference of signatories of the nine power pact, which provides for the consideration of grave crimes in China, League personalities, however, told the United Press the council would willingly and the present negotiations by a formal resolution solving the Manchurian dispute if Washington called a nine power conference.

It was expected a private session of the council this afternoon, without China or Japan represented, would consider Japanese and Chinese suggestions in reply to the council's resolution for a commission of enquiry and try to reach a compromise. A revised resolution would then be submitted to Tokio and Nanking.

Should an accord still be found impossible, it was expected the council would adopt a resolution condemning the military occupation of Manchuria and declaring the Manchurian dispute of an exceptional character for which the council has not created a precedent under Article XI of the League covenant.

This would give the way clear for Washington to summon a nine power conference, although League circles considered there was still much ground for negotiation and professed still to be hopeful of an accord.

I think if we could have a list of all the witnesses for each side, with the main points they testified to, the corroboration and the contradictory evidence, just jotted down on a memorandum, it would help us greatly."

Superior Judge Clair S. Tappan ordered a conference between attorneys in his chambers, to work out a plan of compliance with Morehouse's request.

Shortly afterward, it was announced that a list of all the witnesses who had testified for both sides might be given the jury, but that it would be illegal to list their testimony, or make a memorandum of what testimony was impeached.

Pantages and his entire family waited in the courtroom, as they have since the jury retired.

Naval records show that Pope enlisted Nov. 1, 1928 and deserted July, 1929. He entered Portsmouth naval prison November 5, last, to begin a two year sentence for desertion.

Soon after he reached the prison, an attaché noted the resemblance between this short, smooth-faced, dark complexioned youth and a picture which appeared on a police circular. The pictured youth was wanted on a murder charge. Naval authorities questioned Pope, who, they said, admitted responsibility not only for the murder of Mrs. Moormeister but of three others. Police quoted him as saying he murdered Mrs. Moormeister because she knew too much about his other crimes.

QUICKEST WAY TO KNOCK A COLD

Millions Say of This Proved Way: You Feel Like a New Person Almost Before You Know It

If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business—don't start "trying" a lot of fancy ideas or remedies. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

Get Hill's Cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING: WILL: to knock a cold in a jiffy, not to cure a hundred different things. Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go; the cold breaks up; poisons leave your system. Almost before you know it you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works. Costs only a few cents.

COUNTY JAIL INMATES TO HAVE THANKSGIVING FEED

Fancy food is to be served the inmates of the Orange county jail here tomorrow, in an attempt to keep the prisoners from forgetting that it's Thanksgiving, according to a statement made today by Theodore Lacy, jr., jailer.

Jailer Lacy has arranged to serve the following menu to the 240 prisoners, at 5 p. m.

he said: Roast leg of pork, candied sweet potatoes, Irish potatoes, au Gratin, dressing, cranberry sauce, celery, sweet corn and mince pie. Cigarettes and cigars also will be handed out to the prisoners.

istered soon enough, the serum will conquer, aided by the splendid condition of Mix's 51 year old body.

One nurse remained at Mix's bedside throughout the night, ready to summon Dr. Smith should the doctor's condition warrant. The fact that no word was sent the physician was considered an encouraging sign.

No friends were permitted to see Mix since his condition took a sudden turn for the worse late yesterday. Will Hays, president of the motion picture producers and distributors of America, called at the hospital but did not gain access to the bedside.

Many other notables called either in person or by telephone to learn the condition of their friend. Two telephone operators in the hospital exchange were occupied exclusively with calls pertaining to the actor.

Although ill for several days, Mix refused to consult a physician until seized with severe pain, and an emergency operation Monday night disclosed his appendix was ruptured. He recuperated immediately after the operation, and was reported to have been reading the script for his first talking picture a few hours later.

Peritonitis had set in, however, and yesterday he became rapidly worse, the bacteriophage was sent for, and Mix began his life battle with but an even chance.

SELECT 14 TO XMAS FESTIVAL BE VOTED ON IN SANTA ANA BY BUILDERS STARTS DEC. 1

Names of 14 persons for selection of new directors for the Orange County Builders' exchange were placed in nomination at a meeting of the nominating committee here last night. Additional nominations will be made from the floor at the general membership meeting to be held in Costa Mesa next Tuesday night and all will then be voted on by mail during the month of December.

Of the 14 directors elected eight basic branches of the building industry must be represented and five must be from outside the city of Santa Ana. The president of the organization is automatically the fifteenth member of the board according to Secretary Frederic Sanford.

Names placed in nomination last night were: Harry M. Adams, Anaheim, lumber; S. J. Babcock and Harry H. Ball, Santa Ana, general contractors; M. E. Beebe, Anaheim, building specialties; J. A. Christensen, Orange, lumber; S. E. Eller, Santa Ana, brick, marble and tile; J. J. Hutchins, Orange, electrical; W. J. Kelley, Santa Ana, roofing; V. C. Kiser, Fullerton, metal workers; Leslie M. Pearson, Santa Ana, lumber; R. J. Quast, Anaheim, plumbing; C. E. Rutledge, Santa Ana, public service; Ray Stauffer, Santa Ana, painting, and H. B. Van Dien, Santa Ana, building materials.

Members of the nominating committee are: O. T. Moore, chairman, Charles F. Carlson and Edgar Lentz.

BROTHERS ARRESTED FOLLOWING FRACAS

Two brothers, who are alleged to have been fighting with each other early last night in the home of their brother-in-law, were arrested by Santa Ana police last night and lodged in the county jail.

Charles Rea, 37, was booked on a charge of being drunk and Alex Rea was charged with being drunk and with assault.

Charles is alleged to have cut the brother-in-law, William Weick, of 309 South Artesia street, with a knife when Weick attempted to separate the two battling brothers.

PLATES OUT DEC. 15

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Nov. 25. (UP)—Mail applications for 1932 automobile license plates will be accepted by the state department of motor vehicles at Sacramento on and after December 1, it was announced today.

Motorists making such applications will receive their plates shortly after Christmas when the holiday mail rush is concluded.

Counter deliveries here and at the branch offices of the department will not begin until December 15.

S. A. MAN'S KIN OPPOSES PLAN TO FREE RACE

Vigorous opposition to granting of independence to the Philippines for social, economic and political reasons and the benefit of natives of the islands themselves is voiced by Newton W. Gilbert, former governor general of the Philippine islands, and a brother of Guy Gilbert, Santa Ana insurance man, in the current issue of The National Republic.

Agitation for independence has been sponsored for selfish reasons, on the part of certain business for commercial gain, and on the part of certain native leaders for political reasons and to win elections, the former governor general indicates. But the agitation has gone too far and native leaders are beginning to realize their agitation may result in their own and the islands' undoing if independence should be granted.

"The masses of the Filipino people are untutored and have little knowledge of world or government affairs. There is a small minority who are educated and a smaller minority who know something of government who are anxious to be in control of the situation. If we should scuttle the islands as is proposed we would leave a great mass of people at the mercy of the few politicians whom I am bound to say are chiefly interested in their own personal welfare and success," he says.

Need Finances

If independence were granted, tax revenue would not support the government; it would be without protection of any army and navy; it would lose its duty free shipments to the United States which represents a saving of $5,000,000, a lot of money in the Philippines, and throw the islands at the mercy of invasions by Asiatic peoples who would soon be in control of all business and the islands themselves. "It might well provoke another world war which would practically be a struggle between the white man and what we are pleased to call the inferior races," he says.

There would be a blot on the escutcheon of America; the abandonment of our ideals. It would be the surrender of the riches of the Philippines to the Japanese and Chinese. It would undoubtedly embroil the Filipinos themselves in a struggle between the representative tribes who speak 80 odd dialects. It would be the utter destruction of the high standard of living which has been developed by the Filipinos. It would return to them the poverty and disease which prevailed before our adventitious coming; it would destroy their business and kindle a flame in the entire Orient."

Offers Solutions

The proper solution says Gilbert is to provide definitely for a long term of years which shall precede independence—a term of years long enough so that capital from America and Europe would go into the Philippine islands to develop their manifold natural resources and to give this capital opportunity to recoup itself before American authority was surrendered.

He points out that the Filipino even now enjoys greater freedom than cities of states in the union. They make their own tariff laws, something eastern states would be glad to do, and they have control of distribution of their own government funds, something for which California, Arizona and Alaska would be glad.

He proposes establishment of a free zone in Manila where our manufactured goods and agricultural products could be stored pending their shipment to other Asiatic points, and points out that from a military standpoint and visible sign of American authority in the Orient withdrawal from the Philippines is unthinkable.

Brown Wins From Tommy at Olympic

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—(UP) Newsboy Brown retained his title as California bantamweight champion today by virtue of his last night's defeat of Young Tommy, Filipino, in a close, 10-round battle at the Olympic. In the semi-final, Warren Fraakes and Lloyd Smith fought six rounds to a draw.

Activity To Cease For Thanksgiving

Sunday quiet is expected to descend on Santa Ana tomorrow when the city observes the Thanksgiving holiday. Union church services and general suspension of business activity will mark the day.

All schools, city and county offices will close, banks will not open, many business houses will take the day off, and a holiday schedule will be observed at the post office, where there will be no window service, no rural or city delivery, but the usual holiday staff of dispatchers for outgoing mail will be maintained.

The city's 6841 public school students and 320 teachers will begin a four-day vacation when they leave their respective school buildings this afternoon. Schools will be closed until Monday morning.

BIG CLASS "BRAWL" SCHEDULED TONIGHT

By the light of a huge bonfire, material for which has been in the gathering since last Saturday, 165 freshmen and sophomores at Santa Ana Junior college will stage their annual "brawl" tonight at 7:15 as the prelude to a gigantic prep rally for the Santa Ana-Fullerton jaycee football game here tomorrow afternoon.

The scene will be the site of an old eight-room house on South Main street. The house was burned last year by the Junior Lions as a prelude to a similar event.

A tug-of-war, pole rush, and sack grabbing contest will be features of the "brawl." The class which wins two of the three events will be declared winner of the "brawl."

HOLD MURDER CASE INQUEST HERE TODAY

Inquest into the death of George Walker, 23, Santa Rosa man, murdered near Olanda last Friday night by Gilbert F. Collier, giant blacksmith of Los Angeles, will be held in the district attorney's office here this afternoon at 4 o'clock, it was announced today by Coroner Charles D. Brown.

Under a new state law, it is not necessary for the coroner's jury to hold the inquest "over the body," as has been the law in California for the past number of years and this is the first inquest ever held here where the members of the jury will not be called on to view the body.

The body of Walker is in the county morgue at Los Angeles where it is being kept pending the outcome of the murder charges against Collier, now in the San Bernardino county jail, where he will be tried for the murder of Dale Slater, Dallas, Ore., youth, who he admitted syaing in that county last June.

The purpose of the inquest here today is to positively identify the body of Walker. Sheriff Logan Jackson said today that he had found other witnesses who would identify the body through tattoo marks on the man's arm.

Walker was murdered in the mouth of the Carbon canyon and his body dragged to a nearby, saddle shack where Collier attempted to burn it by setting fire to the shack, he said.

Although there is little doubt that the body is that of Walker, in order to clear the local records it is necessary to hold the inquest, Coroner Brown said.

"I liked Chesterfield right from the start"

"NO, I don't know a blessed thing about how cigarettes are made. But, of course, I would want the tobacco to be PURE. And then I've heard that the blending is very important. I'd want that to be done just right.

"Then the paper. I don't like paper that you can taste—or smell when it's burning. I'd want that pure too.

"Another thing. I want to smoke whenever I feel like it—without worrying about smoking too many. So I want my cigarettes MILD.

"But the main thing, of course, is TASTE. I don't care for over-sweetened cigarettes. I much prefer those that are just sweet enough.

"Chesterfield seems to satisfy in every one of these ways. That is why I'd rather have a Chesterfield."

SMOKERS tire of too much sweetness in a cigarette, and they don't like rawness. For a steady diet, they want a cigarette like CHESTERFIELD—a mild and mellow smoke, free from any over-sweetness or any harshness or bitterness. That's why more and more smokers every day are changing to CHESTERFIELD.

Good... they've got to be good.

PLAN SPECIAL SERVICES FOR ONE SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED IN ACCIDENTS

The religious side of Santa Ana's Thanksgiving observance will be observed in three different churches tomorrow morning according to announcements today.

At 10 a. m. the annual Thanksgiving service will be held in the First Baptist church, Sixth and Main streets, under auspices of the Ministerial association; at 9 a. m. a special Thanksgiving service will be held at St. Peter's Lutheran church, West Sixth and Garnsey streets, when the Rev. Herman W. Meyer will deliver a sermon on "There Is a Harvest Which Abideth Unto Eternal Life," and at 10:30 special services will be held at the Christian Science church, Tenth and Main streets.

The Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor of the First Baptist church, will preside at the union service and the sermon on "Why Give Thanks?" will be delivered by Dr. Cecil M. Aker, of the Spurgeon Memorial Methodist church, South. The detailed program is as follows:

Organ prelude, "Londonderry Air"; hymn, "Come, Ye Thankful People, Come"; invocation; responsive reading, Dr. W. H. McPeak; duet, "The Night Is Gone" (Franz Abt), Mrs. H. T. Smith and Mrs. Chas. G. The lesson-sermon consists of verses from the Bible and correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy.

SANTA ANA MAN IS INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

Carl French Burns, well known Santa Ana man, now in the Los Angeles county jail, was indicted today by the Orange county grand jury on two counts of alleged grand theft involving Edison company stock, after a hearing was held yesterday afternoon by the jury. Burns has been held to answer and is awaiting trial in superior court in Los Angeles on a charge of shooting his wife, Emily Burns, in the hip, and thus probably will not be able to come to Santa Ana for trial for some time.

The case, which was presented to the grand jury by Deputy District Attorney Leo Frile, is based on the asserted theft of stock from Pauline Weide, of this city, and another asserted theft from her parents, Henry and Justine Weide. Mrs. Weide is deceased. The alleged theft from Pauline Weide involved stock valued at $1019.38 and $273.96 in cash. The asserted theft from her parents was Edison stock worth $8510. The indictment was returned before Presiding Judge H. G. Ames.

The charge was based on the stock of Pauline Weide grew out of an offense alleged to have been committed on December 21, 1928, while the second offense is asserted to have taken place on November 30, 1928.

Frile said today the matter had been taken before the grand jury instead of being handled through the justice court because it now will be possible to get the matter before the superior court before November 30. The second offense, alleged to have been committed on November 30, 1928, would be outlawed if not brought before the superior court before November 30, 1931, Frile said.

Witnesses who testified yesterday before the grand jury were D. J. Brady, of the Southern California Edison company stock department at Los Angeles; Pauline Weide, Henry Weide, John S. Thomson and A. B. Knecht, representing Los Angeles brokerage houses; Leland Finley, of the Commercial National bank here, and A. E. Hoffman, of the state corporation commissioner's office. The indictment was signed by O. H. Barr, foreman of the grand jury.

A bench warrant was issued for the arrest of Burns but owing to the fact that he is awaiting trial in Los Angeles it is expected that he will not be brought here in the near future.

Close friends and members of Burns' family assert that the young man is at times irresponsible as a result of shell shock suffered in the World War.

Four persons were reported injured in two automobile accidents here yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Shultz, of 1637 West Fourth street were both seriously injured when the car in which they were riding collided with a car driven by Leonard Baker, of the Winbiger funeral home, at Eighth and Baker streets.

Shultz, who is janitor at the city hall, suffered a fractured knee cap and cuts and bruises and his wife was said to be in a critical condition today at the Santa Ana Valley hospital, suffering from a possible fracture of the skull and serious cuts and bruises.

Baker escaped with a few scratches about the head. It was reported. No report of the accident has been filed with the police.

James Campbell, of 290 North Cambridge street, Orange, suffered severe cuts about the legs when the car he was driving turned over on a narrow road in Trabuco canyon yesterday afternoon. He was taken to the Orange county hospital.

ORANGE COUNTY TO BENEFIT IN ROAD PROGRAM

A state highway program affecting Orange county to the extent of $557,329 was announced today by Col. Walter F. Garrison, director of public works. Twenty highway projects throughout the state are scheduled to be advertised between now and April 1. The entire state program will cost about $7,000,000.

Three projects are planned in Orange county. The first, on which work is expected to start in March or April, provides for 5.6 miles of grading and paving between Dana Point and Laguna Beach, at a cost of about $470,000. It is expected that the pavement will be 30 feet wide.

Another project, which heretofore was not talked of locally, is for widening the state highway between Irvine and Tustin to 30 feet a distance of 5.7 miles. It is now a 20-foot road. This will cost $184,096, it is estimated.

The third plan calls for 3.7 miles of grading and paving between Newport Beach and Corona Del Mar, at an estimated cost of $203,233. It is contemplated that the latter two jobs will be commenced about May or June.

Riverside county will get the largest slice of the highway melon, with $1,571,400 scheduled to be spent there for improvements on the Mecca-Blythe road and on the Imperial-Cachella valley road. The next largest project is the paving of 14.7 miles of the border highway in Imperial county, to cost $598,000.

SCHOOL FINANCIAL REPORT SUBMITTED

A consolidated fund balance sheet for the Santa Ana school system as of November 1 was submitted to the board of education last night in the school administration offices, by Percy R. Davis, school superintendent. The sheet showed that the combined unappropriated surplus was $39,941.16 on November 1. This sum, plus total liabilities of $823,342.24, make up a grand total of $863,283.40, balancing assets of an equal amount.

The liabilities column was made up of the following items: Unexpended appropriations, $747,483.43; unpaid purchase orders, $41,279.82; reserve for delinquent taxes, $34,578.99; and unappropriated surplus, $39,941.16.

Assets were listed as follows: Cash, $17,345.37; accounts receivable, from the state, $89,087.51; from the county, $251,376.25; tuition, $70,232.19; special tax, $24,503.52; building tax, $21,258.14; miscellaneous, $59,400.71.

These totals for the entire system were arrived at after allowance had been made for the fact that the high school general fund cash was $51,216.62 in the red and the high school fund unappropriated surplus was $29,934.27 in the red. The high school general fund had accounts receivable giving it total assets of $344,744.32 after allowing for the cash fund being in the red. The high school bond fund has cash amounting to $8007.15 and liabilities in the form of unpaid purchase orders amounting to $34,941.42.

"SAFE" PLANE TO BE SHOWN HERE THURSDAY

In an effort to prove that aviation is a safe method of transportation F. Wilbur Cornelius, of the Cornelius Aircraft corporation, will be at the Eddie Martin airport tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock demonstrating the Free-wing airplane. This plane, the product of 16 years work on the part of Cornelius, has eliminated 70 per cent of the human element from flying and makes the handling of a ship in the air practically automatic, it is said.

Flexible wings shifting the wind pressure center as the ship climbs or noses down, practically stabilize the plane without the aid of the pilot. This eliminates the possibility of tailspins or the danger of tearing wings.

In an informal demonstration here this morning Cornelius took the ship to an altitude of 2000 feet without touching the stick after leaving the ground, save to pull it into another climb as it automatically levelled off when a certain altitude had been reached.

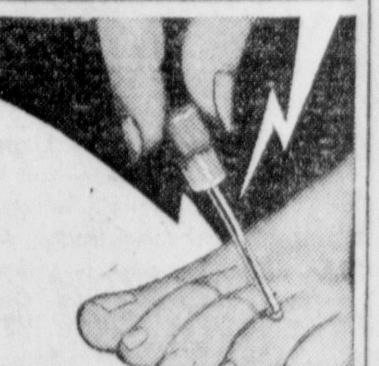

Landing is made in the same fashion. The stick is pushed forward, the ship noses down, levels off, and is sent down again.

"The flexible wings shifting with the wind pressure center adds to the smoothness of the ride and totally eliminates the bumpiness experienced when striking an air pocket or rough air conditions."

The safety element in the ship is evident when Cornelius sends the ship up to the stalling point and, instead of dropping away, it levels off. To demonstrate the absolute safety of the plane Cornelius put it into a series of vertical banks without using the stick and demonstrated the power of wing control by placing his hands on the wings and putting the machine into a climb and leveling it off.

His company is constructing a Free-wing ship of the pusher type in which Cornelius is planning an endurance flight in which he will go aloft alone, do his own refueling, sleep, and write the story of his life, landing only when the motor quits. In this ship instruments on the control board will be connected with an automatic alarm system planned to ring a bell and awaken the pilot should something go wrong while he is sleeping. The ship is being built at the Grand Central airport at Glendale.

LAND OFFERED ORANGE COUNTY IS WITHDRAWN

Three offers to dedicate certain lots on Emerald bay to Orange county, conditioned on the approval of maps and acceptance of certain roadways by the county, had been withdrawn today. The offers were made by Hallam Cooley, Los Angeles, and by the First National bank of Beverly Hills. The letters said the offers previously had been rejected by the board of supervisors.

The case recalled a recent offer by W. A. Boynton, Los Angeles banker, to dedicate a certain roadway at Three Arches Pali-sades, to the county, which was met by an injunction suit to prevent its acceptance. This suit is still pending.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs in this suit are Vinetz and Gileson, of Los Angeles. These attorneys also wrote to the board on behalf of Cooley and the Beverly Hills bank in withdrawing their offers to dedicate the property to Emerald bay.

An ordinance recommended by the county planning commission has been before the board of supervisors for six months or more, which provides for one primary and one secondary road through a subdivision and strongly recommends transverse roads which, in beach subdivisions, would provide access to the ocean. It is understood that the policy behind this proposed ordinance is to aid in the preservation of the use of the beaches for the public. Much of the land along the coast, however, already has been subdivided and such an ordinance it passed could not be retroactive.

GETS STIFF FINE ON LIQUOR COUNT

Charged with possession of liquor, Leonard G. Sitzmann, 34, steel worker of Fullerton, was fined $300 with an alternate of spending 150 days in the county jail in Judge A. W. Swayze's justice court in Orange today.

The man was arrested last yesterday by sheriff's office on an old warrant and taken immediately before the court.

Unable to pay the fine, he was still in jail here today.

Report Advises of Unsatisfactory Work by Students

A report on unsatisfactory work cards in the Santa Ana high school for the semester ending June 12, 1931, compiled by Vice Principal W. M. Clayton, was submitted to the board of education in the school administration office last night by Dr. Percy R.

Davis, school superintendent.

The report showed that 33 per cent of the students received cards in one or more studies during the semester. The total number receiving cards was 415. Those who received cards in one subject numbered 276, in two subjects, 109, and in three or more subjects, 31.

Dr. Davis pointed out that receipt of an unsatisfactory work card does not mean that a student's entire school work is not up to the mark but only that he has fallen down in one subject. If a student has received two such cards a report is requested from all his instructors, a conference is held and a report sent to his parents.

While the total number of students receiving cards was 415, the total number of cards was 699. Segregated by subjects the cards were distributed as follows: English, 246; history, 97; foreign language, 143; mathematics, 46; commerce, 74; science, 69; domestic science, 11; shops, 2; art, 3; music, 1; hygiene, 6, and physical education, 1.

BUILDERS OF CALIFORNIA

Thank California genius

for your Electric iron

6 of the 8 largest ELECTRICAL MANUFACTURING COMPANIES operating in California are depositors in Bank of America

SCARCELY a generation ago, the only electric iron in the world lay upon a work-bench in a small California city.

The immediate popularity of this invention led not only to the development of many other electrical appliances, but also to the rise of a great California industry.

Electrical manufacturing concerns in this state make practically every type of equipment. Their yearly production totals 47 million dollars; their payroll, 4 millions.

Like other manufacturers, makers of electrical equipment profit by the economy and efficiency of Bank of America's statewide service.

Through cooperation of the Bank's branches, collections for shipments are made without delay. These funds are transferred promptly to or from any desired point.

Thus, outstanding funds are reduced; earning power of working capital is substantially increased.

Bank of America also furnishes dependable business reports, which enable manufacturers to improve their service to distributors.

The advantages of this flexible, statewide service, and the security of the ample, diversified resources of Bank of America, are available to you at a nearby branch.

CONSOLIDATE SCHOOL FUNDS FOR ECONOMY

Employment of a full time assistant auditor to keep track of scores of isolated school funds amounting to about $100,000 annually, was authorized by the board of education at the school administration building last night. The action was taken in accordance with recommendations made in a report by R. D. Crenshaw, auditor, employed to survey school accounts. Dr. Percy R. Davis, school superintendent, said he believed the move would save from $2000 to $3000 a year because it involved elimination of several full time jobs and a number of part time jobs which now will be consolidated in one. The new auditor will assist Auditor E. D. Boynton.

Two girls doing full time work and six doing part time work as bookkeepers in the office of George Holmes, head of the commercial department of the high school and college, will be eliminated under the new plan, Dr. Davis said. As a two employees, one at each junior high school, probably would be eliminated, he said. The saving will come through consolidation of work now being done by these employees, Dr. Davis said.

The Crenshaw report recommended paying the janitor wages, heat, light and fuel costs for the high school cafeteria from the cafeteria fund instead of from the school funds as in the past. The recommendation was adopted. Dr. Davis said this might make it necessary to raise the price of food in the cafeteria slightly so that the cafeteria fund could meet these items.

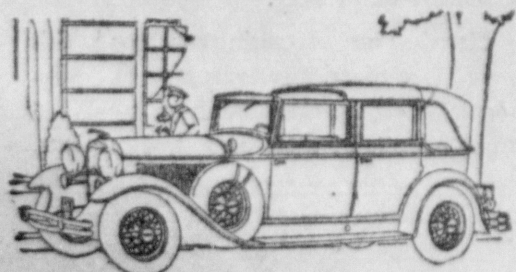

Possible saving through having all buying for the three school cafeterias done by one person was discussed by the board. The funds to be kept track of by the assistant auditor consist of numerous student activity funds as well as funds directly administered by the board. The board is held legally responsible for all these funds.

JUSTIFIABLE PRIDE

More than merely a luxurious means of transportation, the new Lincoln stands as an indication of good taste that is inherent and discriminating. Lithe and fleet-looking, its graceful, sweeping lines reflect a perfect blending of beauty and engineering fitness. Spacious, rich in finish, exquisite in equipment, to the most minute detail the new Lincoln appears what it is—a motor car of distinguished character. Abundance of power, free-wheeling transmission, long wheelbase, wide tread, long springs, lowered center of gravity—these new features make Lincoln motoring peacefully relaxing and comfortable.

Mrs. Haydon passed away at her home in Watts Tuesday. She is survived by seven children, Mrs. Mabel Sork, Smeltzer; Louis L. Bauer, Boise; Mrs. Viletta Sault, Mrs. Viola Latimer, Melvin Haydon, Elmer Haydon and Vina Haydon, Watts.

BOARD HEARS COMPLAINT ON LABOR CHARGE

A complaint that plasterers residing outside the city limits of Santa Ana are being used by Jules Markel, contractor on the Frances Willard Junior high school shower building, was discussed by the board of education in the school administration building last night. It was decided to leave the matter in the hands of George Newcom, the board's business manager, and Frederick Eley, architect for the building.

A letter from Markel showed that one man lives just outside the city limits on the east while another lives at Silver Acres. Markel was present and said that both men do their trading in Santa Ana, belong to the union and regard this city as their residence. Discussion by the board revealed that it does not feel it can be too technical in enforcing the agreement for use of local labor and that to all intents and purposes the two men should be regarded as Santa Ana citizens.

Markel said the complaint had been made by a plastering contractor from whom he could not accept a bid because his organization does its own plastering. He pointed out that if the two men should seek work elsewhere they would be turned down and would be told they are residents of Santa Ana. His letter expressed willingness to comply with the board's wishes in the matter.

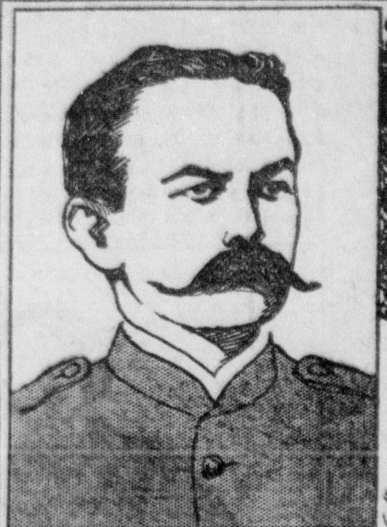

A letter from Eley said that from a strictly technical point of view the men probably would not be regarded as Santa Ana citizens but that he saw no reason for requiring a strictly technical enforcement of the agreement.

4-H LEADERS PLAN FOR COMING YEAR

A committee consisting of M. H. Wellstone, F. W. Wair, Mrs. F. Browning and Mrs. L. P. Rains charged with arranging next year's 4-H club activities, was appointed last night at a meeting of club leaders, and executives from all parts of Orange county at the Farm Bureau offices. Minimum requirements for 4-H club membership were also approved as outlined in the last issue of the Farm Bureau News. The program first meeting at the Farm Bureau offices on the afternoon of December 1, it was announced today by Assistant Farm Advisor E. E. Eastman.

Reports from the assembled club leaders on last year's work were received and suggestions made for the program next year. Approval was given to the John Bradford training school to be held December 15 to 18 and efforts launched to arrange a new date for the presentation of achievement trophies to members of the county's 4-H clubs on their last year's record. This presentation was to have been made November 21, but was cancelled because of the inability of W. R. Ralston, assistant state club leader who was to have made the presentations, to be present on that date.

Require Another Teacher at Lowell

Division of the first grade at the Lowell school into three instead of two sections, and employment of Miss Lois Sturgeon, of this city, to teach the additional section, was approved by the board of education last night at its meeting in the school administration building.

Dr. Percy R. Davis, school superintendent, said Miss Sturgeon had been employed as a substitute at $1000 a year. Her employment as a regular teacher carries a salary of $1200. Dr. Davis said the two sections of the first grade class had grown so large as to make the division necessary.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like.

DISCRIMINATION CHARGE MADE BY BOB SHULER

BY BOB SHULER

At last I have received a certified notice to get off the air.

It arrived just 10 days after the Federal Radio Commission had acted.

In the meantime, a radio corporation in New York City had received copies of the decision and forwarded one to Los Angeles, which copy I had at the mass meetings Sunday.

The Commission gave me 20 days in which to appeal and used the first 10 days of that time getting to me the decision.

But just wait and see what happens to KGEF if I am 10 minutes late getting that appeal filed!

I note under a San Francisco date line a press notice to the effect that the California Press Association in a resolution passed November 14, recommends federal supervision of all radio programs and general exercise of more influence in controlling the air.

Now isn't that magnanimous! Just suppose that the radio folks should meet in a solemn conclave and recommend that the Federal government take over the newspapers and closely supervise and censor all articles published.

Talk about printers' ink flying, it would sure be spread in all directions then.

Charges Discrimination I wish somebody would please tell me why free speech on the ground and free speech in the air are so different. Who decreed that a man could say things through the newspapers that he can not say through the ozone?

And what line of logic is back of the idea that something said from a platform to 10,000 can not be said over the air to 100,000 people?

Are platforms and printing presses

so holy or sacred that they have rights that do not belong to men who have a medium of communication by which they can reach the public over the air?

No man can deny that the KGEF decision handed down by the Federal Radio Commission is a direct contradiction of the guarantees of the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution. It is class legislation and more. It is the denial of a right to one American which right is accorded another.

I have as good a right, according to the Constitution, to carry a message over my radio as a newspaper has to carry that message through its columns.

Says Property Confiscated If I haven't, then this is not America.

At present, $100,000.00 worth of property has been confiscated by a refusal to permit me to express my convictions and sentiments over the radio.

Let the government try that same thing on the newspapers and see what happens.

Ninety per cent of the newspapers are owned and controlled by the special interests and it is this special interest group that is now demanding that the Federal government censor the radio messages and make independent expression impossible through that medium.

Shame on such newspapers! Once the newspapers were universally the champions of free speech, religious freedom, the right of assembly and all other American safeguards of human rights.

ORGANIZATION OF DAIRYMEN STARTED

Plans for reorganization of the California Milk Producers' association which will consolidate it with the Dairymen's Protective Association and the Dairymen's League were discussed at a meeting of Orange county dairymen at offices of the county Farm Bureau here yesterday. The new organization, while retaining the name and membership of the California

Milk Producers Association, will extend its activities into the cooperative marketing field. It is backed by $1,000,000 reserve and a good credit rating, according to Assistant Farm Advisor W. M. Cory.

Following explanation of the new consolidation of dairymen's organizations by J. J. Deuel, of the law and utility department of the California Farm Bureau Federation, the following membership committee was appointed: H. L. Wakeham, W. Segerstrom, Ed Clinton, R. F. Hazard, Steve Grisette, J. J. Denni and Harry Bettan-

TWO ARRESTED IN CONNECTION MURDER CASE

Two Mexicans, Aurelio Aumoda, 28, and Amado Rodriguez, 23, of Buena Park, were taken into custody late yesterday afternoon and are being held in the county jail in connection with the brutal shotgun murder of Gaudalope Gormado, 26, Orangehorpe Mexican, early Sunday morning.

Under Sheriff C. W. Riggles and Deputy Sheriff Earl T. Nickles who made the arrests, declared that the men are not believed to have been on a drinking party with Gormado and Joaquin Arroyo, late Saturday night, and that they may be able to throw some light on the trouble which led to the murder.

In the meantime the sheriff's office continues its search for Arroyo, missing since the murder and for whom officers are seeking as the man who actually fired the shot which killed Gormado.

He was arrested Sunday afternoon in the Santa Ana canyon by California Highway Officers Ernie Sawyer and Oscar Kelly and spent Sunday night in jail here.

The fencing master is in jail pending a time when he raises the fine money.

TUBBS' CAR STOLEN

An automobile owned by W. L. Tubbs, of 710 North Main street, was reported stolen from a place where it was parked near Church and North Main streets late yesterday afternoon.

ISSUE PERMITS FOR 2 NEW S. A. HOMES

Two permits for new homes in Santa Ana were granted by the city building inspector here yesterday.

An eight room stucco home will be built by Mrs. Anna M. Hasenjoeger, of 2115 Grand avenue, at 622 Eastwood avenue, according to the permit. The home will cost $3500.

E. C. Rogers, of 2462 Riverside drive applied and was granted a permit to erect a seven-room home at 2476 Riverside drive. The cost will be $5000. It will be constructed of stucco.

MAKE CHANGES IN INSURANCE FOR SCHOOLS

The Santa Ana board of education last night decided to have an advisory and service committee on insurance and named Harold P. Harrison, John Henderson and E. M. Sundquist, local agents, to form the committee. They will keep the school insurance permanently surveyed and it is expected that through taking advantage of rate changes as they develop, they will be able to save money for the board on premiums.

Allocation of insurance to agents will continue to remain in charge of the board itself, however, although it will confer with its committee on all points.

The board decided to establish 90 per cent blanket coverage, changing from 70 per cent coverage which has been in force. All policies will be cancelled and rewritten so that one third will expire at the end of one, two and three years. Thus one third of the policies will be renewed each year. It also was decided to retain protection in case of a falling building, this feature to cover only two story building and eliminating the Fremont school.

Public liability insurance on automobiles will be increased so that the minimum protection will be $25,000 and the maximum $50,000. At present the figures are $10,000 and $20,000. The increase will boost the cost about 15 per cent, it was estimated.

A report made by Sundquist and Harrison, who had offered to survey the fire insurance policies, showed that the schools were over-insured and that in fact the 90 per cent coverage actually has been on-ford on the elementary schools. In one week $187,000 of this insurance will mature. It also will be necessary to add $213,900 insurance on the new Frances Willard Junior High school. The difference in cost between 70 per cent and 90 per cent coverage will be about $248 a year, it was pointed out.

A report by the R. D. Crenshaw auditing organization, which has surveyed school accounts, recommended the 90 per cent coverage, appointment of a service committee and allocating to it a large volume of the insurance business.

Police News

Charged with being drunk and fighting, Manuel Yeas, 24, of 1802 West Third street has been arrested by Santa Ana police officers last night and lodged in the county jail.

VOCAL NUMBERS ON EDUCATION RADIO PROGRAM

Vocal numbers will be featured tonight on the adult education program over KREG from 8:30 until 9 p. m., under direction of Mrs. A. T. Bethencourt.

Doris Estrada and Margaret Gallegos will open the program singing "El Cello" as a duet number. Two other talented singers, Bob Villa and Salvadore Solis, will sing two songs, "Antonia, Antonia" and "Yo Estoy Aqui" as duet numbers. These four singers are from Delhi and are students in the Adult Education department of the city school system.

The Fremont school orchestra, under direction of Mrs. Edith Richter, will play several selections before Mrs. Bethencourt gives the weekly Spanish language health talk.

Mrs. Bethencourt is calling attention to the fact that tonight she will read the final episode in "La Velada" the group of stories she has been featuring for several weeks.

Following the adult education program Sr. Guillermo Orozco will go on the air for one hour with his Spanish hour. Orozco has arranged an unusually attractive program for tonight featuring several talented artists in musical selections by the outstanding Spanish composers.

SISTERS TO SING ON KREG PROGRAM

Two sister from Orange have been added to the list of artists who will participate in the special Thanksgiving day broadcast over KREG, according to Bert May, chief announcer, who is arranging and directing the presentation.

Idabel and Josephine Durgan, well-known vocalists will be heard in a group of double numbers and solos. These two artists have charming voices and will sing a group of songs appropriate to the day.

WILL SELL SCHOOL BONDS DECEMBER 15

Bids on the $30,000 bond issue recently approved by voters of the San Clemente school district will be opened by the board of supervisors on December 15 at 11 a. m. The date was set yesterday after the matter had been presented by Deputy District Attorney W. F. Menton.

The money will be used in part for purchase of the school building and property now in use but which belong to the city. The amount to be spent on this item is about $15,000. The remainder will be used for additions to the building and for equipment purchases.

WILL BROADCAST J. C. GRID CLASH

Another football broadcast for those who cannot attend the Thanksgiving clash between Santa Ana and Fullerton Junior college teams will be featured by KREG tomorrow from 2:15 to 5 p. m.

The game will be broadcast by direct wire from the playing field and will be an actual play-by-play account of the game which is the next best thing to seeing the contest.

TWO FAVORITES TO BROADCAST TONIGHT

Two favorites with KREG audiences will be presented tonight starting at 8:45. For 15 minutes listeners will follow Jabbo and Lige through another of their laughable and human adventures that takes them from Central Avenue, Los Angeles, to Hollywood.

"Honeydew", Jabbo's "girl friend" will play a prominent part in this adventure.

Starting at 7 o'clock Art Cannon will be on the air with another of his "sticker" programs. A valuable prize will be awarded again this week to the first person who requests a piano number that Cannon cannot play.

RADIO FEATURES

The National Thanksgiving Day service and the annual football game between the eleven of the University of Pennsylvania and Cornell University are among the special events scheduled for presentation over the Columbia network tomorrow. Rt. Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, will conduct the National Thanksgiving service to be broadcast from the Washington Cathedral, in Washington, beginning at 8 a. m. Pacific time. The Penn-Cornell game will be described by Ted Husing commencing at 10:30 a. m.

Dino Grandi will broadcast over the nation-wide Columbia network on Thanksgiving Day, from 2:45 to 3:15 p. m. Pacific time. Speaking on the eve of his departure, the 36-year-old Italian Foreign Minister is expected to summarize the results of his 10-day visit to the United States during which he conferred with President Hoover, the Secretary of State and other high government officials. The pick-up will be made from the Waldorf-Astoria in New York where Signor Grandi has been invited to make an address before the Foreign Policy association.

able prize will be awarded again this week to the first person who requests a piano number that Cannon cannot play.

PLAN SPECIAL PROGRAM FOR THANKSGIVING

Under direction of Bert May, chief announcer, KREG will present a special Thanksgiving program from 11 to 11:30 a. m. tomorrow. Considerable time and effort has been expended in preparing a program of inspiration and rejoicing to be presented in the spirit of the day.

Opening the program May will tell, briefly, the history and significance of the day and will be followed on the air by an electrical recording of the "Prayer of Thanksgiving," by the Associated Glee Clubs of America. This is one of the most inspiring choruses ever presented as it features 250 male voices in a hymn voicing the spirit of thankfulness.

Verna Mae Helm, one of the musical co-eds is on the program for two numbers. She will sing the Largo from Xerxes and "Down de Road" set to Dvorak's Largo from the "New World Symphony."

Johnnie Maxwell, the tenor with a tear in his voice, will sing two appropriate numbers, "Smiling Through" and "The Cobblestone Road."

Ruth Lalonde, a member of the telephone company glee club will be on the program singing several numbers of her own selection and Elaine Webb, of Anaheim, will sing several solos.

The Dutch Baritone has accepted an invitation to sing on this special broadcast and will present several numbers.

Betty Smadley will accompany the artists at the piano.

68th Birthday Of Mother Observed

LA HABRA, Nov. 25.—Mrs. G. F. Walker, of South College street, entertained with a dinner Monday evening celebrating the 68th birthday anniversary of her mother, Mrs. J. A. Stamps, and also her own birthday. Pink candles on the birthday cake with tall pink tapers centered the table and a quail dinner was served.

Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stamps, Virgil Stamps and Mr. and Mrs. Walker and son, Jimmie.

THANKS

This is the happy time of Thanksgiving when all the people pause and reflect on the blessings of the season. And while the whole country has had its ups and downs this year, still we all have many good things for which to offer thanks

No one knows how fast an L. C. Smith will typewrite!

You know how fast your automobile will go! And you know the speed of an airplane! You know, too, that light travels 186,000 miles per second. You know a lot about speed, don't you? But you don't know how fast an L. C. Smith typewriter can be operated!

We've been waiting for some years for some super-typist to step up and show us how to burn up an L. C. Smith! So far, no one has been able to equal its speed capacity. We'd probably be safe in offering a prize of a million dollars to someone who can do it, but we won't—there are too many miracles these days!

However, you gather that an L. C. Smith is f-a-s-t! But it will run at ANY speed, without shifting gears!

Trojans Get Noisy Welcome

CONQUERORS OF IRISH PARADED THROUGH CITY

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—(UP)—The University of Southern California football team, conquerors of Notre Dame by a 16 to 14 score, came home today to receive the plaudits of victory.

Thousands of persons gathered around the Santa Fe depot and on the downtown streets to cheer the Trojans and Coach Howard Jones.

The famous Trojan band, one of the largest collegiate musical organizations in the country, headed a parade through the business district of Los Angeles to the city hall. Approximately 100 automobiles, containing the athletes and officials of the university and the city were in the proceedings.

Confetti was showered from office buildings as the parade moved down Spring street, the "Wall street" of Los Angeles.

A truck bearing a huge Trojan warrior head was in the van. Following was a touring car bearing Coach Jones and Asa C. Call, president of the U. S. C. Alumni association. The squad members followed in other automobiles. Practically all of the athletes wore "iron derbies" in respect to the mid-western style of winter head-dress.

Radios "Cover" Celebration
Four radio stations covered the celebration for the thousands of Trojan fans who were unable to be present.

As the throngs paraded through the streets, a blimp hung overhead, a scarlet and gold banner of the university waving from its cabin.

At the city hall, the first speaker was Mayor John C. Porter, who expressed a civic welcome for "our most illustrious recent homecomers."

Dr. Rufus Von Klein Smid, president of the university, said jokingly that the victory really had dissipated "the depression" in Southern California.

"There hasn't been room for such talk here since Saturday," Dr. Von Klein Smid said.

The Right Rev. John C. Cantwell, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Los Angeles, drew an analogy between the Trojan invasion and the original defense of Troy.

Praise From Rev. Cantwell
"The last time the Trojans met the Greeks, the Trojans bowed to them," said Bishop Cantwell. "That was a long time ago, but the Trojans got their revenge Saturday. They won a splendid victory over the greatest team that could have been placed in the field against them."

Howard Jones had little to say, but his usually solemn face was broad with smiles.

"Well, Notre Dame was the greatest team in the country until just before dusk Saturday afternoon," he said. "I'm very proud of the boys. I'm proud of Johnny Baker, but we mustn't forget there were 11 boys working to get that ball into kicking territory."

Each member of the team was presented, in the name of the city, with a reading lamp, the shade modeled after a football helmet.

Traffic Demoralized
Traffic was completely demoralized downtown for two hours, as the Southern California students and well-wishers paraded their team through the city, winding up at the university where a rally was held. At noon, the 34 team members were guests at a banquet, but were to don their uniforms and go through a stiff workout this afternoon in preparation for the University of Washington game December 5.

Relatives of many of the players boarded the train at Alhambra at 7 o'clock this morning, and had their intimate little school before the team to their bosoms.

As captain of the winning team, Stanley Williamson brought with him the football used in the Notre Dame game, but in a fine gesture of sportsmanship, he presented it to Mrs. John Baker, mother of the sure-kicking Johnny, whose field goal won the game.

Just before the players left the train, they spoke over a nationwide radio broadcast, as microphones were hastily installed in their Pullman cars.

Gregg Has Perfect 25 At Skeet Club

Straight-shooting Cal Gregg turned in another perfect score of 25 at the Santa Ana Skeet club this week, with Sam Nau Smith third with 22. A. L. Steward, Smith third with 22. Steward, Arnold Peak and Leland Smith scored 20; Ray Alford and L. B. Johnson 18; Dinkler, 17; Klein, 16; Charles Ryan, 15, and Trapp, 12. Steward and Smith won Thanksgiving turkey.

Now I'll ask you one! Why do all high school teams persist in trying for the extra point after touchdowns with field goals?

Not that it's any of my business, but I would send Kid Mexico and Company has better chance of making a go of amateur boxing here by concentrating on the development of one or two good "local cards."

Flutiana thrived here most when Jack Inman, Hank Gatton and even old Mex himself were youngsters trying to establish reputations.

Tennessee, New York U. Play Dec. 5

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(UP)—An unemployment benefit football game between the teams of the University of Tennessee and New York university will be played at Yankee stadium here December 5, it was announced today through the United Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—(UP)—A post-season charity game between Santa Clara university and Texas A. and M. was being arranged today under the sponsorship of the San Jose Chamber of Commerce.

Santa Clara officials said they were in touch with Coach Maurice ("Clipper") Smith, their coach, regarding the intercollegiate game, which probably would be held here December 12. Smith and the team are enroute to New Orleans for a Thanksgiving game with Loyola.

Frankie Catalina, Los Angeles, a substitute for Ray Campo who appeared with his hand in a sling, defeated George Goodman of Chicago in a sensational four-round win that had the scattered customers standing in their seats. It was a main event in anybody's arena.

Harry Burke, Pacific Coast amateur lightweight champion, received a questionable decision over "Brassie" Mitchell, a sailor, in the second. This was another match in which plenty of leather was discarded.

Joey Rosenberg took a three-round decision from Jack Slader. They were 112-pounders.

Ted Silva, 124 pounds, knocked out Johnny Flores in the fourth round of a torrid encounter.

August Salas, another 124-pounder, who looked like the best boxer on the whole program, scored a comfortable decision over Herb Terchie. Salas looks like a dandy prospect, and Matchmaker Mexico may give him a chance in a main event next Tuesday.

Frank Stevens, colored middleweight, knocked out Roy Dorsey in the third round.

Bob Epps stopped Kim Pratt of Santa Ana in the first round.

Rudy Ione decided George Lopez in three.

Baer Signs to Box Lomski Dec. 5

OAKLAND, Nov. 25.—(UP)—Max Baer, young California heavyweight who has joined the front ranks by victories in his last three fights, signed today for a bout with Leo Lomski here Dec. 5.

Baer knocked out Les Kennedy, former California heavyweight champion, Monday night.

Kennedy and Lomski recently fought a draw.

CUTTIN' IT SHORT
Quarterback Francis Conrad has been reading Quarterback Francis Carideo's mail.

The dynamic Saint quarterback copped a sneak on sluggish Alhambra linemen here Saturday.

The ball was Ana's on Alhambra's 3-yard line. Conrad came out of the huddle, squatted in accustomed position behind Center Earl Halderman.

"Whew, I'm tired," confessed Conrad to the eager, straining Moor forwards, determined to throw back the Saint assault on their goal line.

The strategy worked perfectly. The Moors "eased" for an instant. Conrad barked a number. Halderman passed him the ball. The Saint backs did not shift as usual. Captain "Tox" Blower grabbed the ball from Conrad, shot across the line standing up.

FIRST AMATEUR SHOW FULL OF ACTION, COLOR

Accepting a financial setback with the same nonchalance he used to "take it" in the ring, Kid Mexico, new Orange County Athletic club promoter, announced today that he and his associates would continue to conduct weekly amateur boxing shows here despite the meager turnout for their opening program last night.

A heavy wind of icy temperature was blamed for the slim attendance which resulted in a stiff monetary loss although the card itself was full of warmth and color.

Collegiate football steps from its throne here tomorrow afternoon, with Santa Ana and Fullerton drawing the curtain on their 1931 schedule before a holiday crowd which promises to be one of the largest of the season. The game will get under way at 2:15 p. m., following a curtain-raiser between Class "C" teams of Santa Ana and Fullerton high schools.

Unusual interest has centered around the Thanksgiving contest. The whole town of Fullerton is coming over to see Coach Art Nunns' Hornets attempt to sting Coach Bill Cook's Santa Ana Dons.

Season records show that out of nine games, four of which were non-conference affairs, Santa Ana has won three, lost four, tied two. Two of the Don victories were in practice games. Its record follows:

Santa Ana 0, Chaffey 0
Santa Ana 0, U. S. C. Freshmen .18
Santa Ana 13, Riverside 0
Santa Ana 0, Long Beach 0
Santa Ana 0, Compton 27
Santa Ana 13, Riverside 0
Santa Ana 12, Pasadena 15
Santa Ana 13, Loyola Frosh 6
Santa Ana 0, Glendale 12
Santa Ana 14, Los Angeles 7

Santa Ana 65, Opponents Fullerton has a slightly better conference record than Santa Ana, holding victories over Glendale and Los Angeles while losing to Pasadena, Compton and Long Beach.

The Swarm tied the La Verne varsity but was bucked by the powerful University of California freshmen. The Hornets' record in full:

Fullerton 15, La Verne Varsity . . . 13
Fullerton 0, California Frosh . . . 43
Fullerton 15, Glendale 0
Fullerton 0, Pasadena 12
Fullerton 12, Los Angeles 7
Fullerton 0, Compton 28
Fullerton 7, Long Beach 12

Fullerton 47, Opponents 12
With 17 members of the Santa Ana squad playing their last junior college game, Coach Cook naturally will give them preference tomorrow. Six on his tentative starting lineup are sophomores in athletic as well as scholastic standing. They are Captain Mike Santa Cruz and Harry Clayton, tackles; Laurence Rossett, guard; Dante Siracusa, quarterback; Erv Watkins, halfback; and Emmett Seacord, fullback.

Higashi At End
Hideo Higashi, Jack-of-all-trades, has been drilling at a wing position all week, and with Siracusa back in the lineup after a face injury which kept him out ever since the Los Angeles game, Cook will use Higashi at left end, with "Gib" Meisinger at right end, Clayton and Santa Cruz, of course, will be at tackle with Lucius Conkey substitute for Santa Cruz. Clayton hasn't been out of a conference game, with the exception of two minutes against Compton, when Jack Wilson took his place.

Rumors that Captain Santa Cruz, along with Harold Benton, tackle, became stranded in the mountains at Big Bear were found to be partly true last night when the two gridmen reported for practice. Instead of at Big Bear, the couple had gone to Arrowhead Sunday, and while they were enjoying the snow, their car became frozen, and they were delayed until late Monday afternoon.

David Maxwell, inside halfback who was shifted to the line in the Los Angeles game, did so well that Cook has placed him at running guard again for the Fullerton contest. Sophomore Laurence Rossett is expected to get the call over Gil Kluthe at left guard. The two are evenly-rated, but Kluthe, although a sophomore, has another year of eligibility, and for this reason, Rossett undoubtedly will start. Paul Bruce will be at center, with Wayne Bartholomew a ready substitution for either the ball-feeding post or right guard.

Gilbert Out of Game
Santa Ana's starting backfield will be composed of Siracusa, quarter; Watkins and Jimmie Hall, halfbacks; and Seacord, full.

With Doyle Gilbert, quarterback flack, unable to play because of an injured foot, Siracusa, a sophomore, and Joe Crafts, a

HECK AND DAMIT ARE FOOTBALL PLAYERS FOR WAND J. AND ILLINOIS—RESPECTIVELY

U. C. L. A., FLORIDA PLAY AT COLISEUM

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—(UP)—It will be nobody's turkey for a quartet of football teams appearing in hard fought Thanksgiving contests on the Pacific coast tomorrow.

The two entrants on the gridiron—St. Mary's-Oregon in San Francisco and U. C. L. A. Florida in Los Angeles—are bound to be close, and probably only small scores will separate victors from vanquished.

In renewing their pigskin rivalry with St. Mary's, Oregon players have their best chance in some while to turn in a victory. The Webfooters have been winning and the Gaels have been losing, which always counts for something.

The Bruins, buoyed by the St. Mary's victory and their strong showing against Oregon, expect to give Florida an interesting afternoon despite the loss of Lennie Beragahl, star signal caller.

MONROE VS. ADRIAN
Here are some questions of sportsmanship and interpretation of the football rules in which you may be interested. They grew out of a game played recently between the high schools of Adrian and Monroe, Michigan.

Adrian was visiting Monroe. When the first half ended, the score was 12 to 6 in favor of Monroe and the bands took the field. The bands were to divide the time, but the Adrian band was out there tooting for 10 minutes, with the result that the Monroe band was out on the field when the second half was due to start. BOTH TEAMS CAME TO THE FIELD and waited for the Monroe band to conclude.

The Adrian coach demanded a penalty for delay under Rule 4, Section 1, Item 3, which gave the ball to Adrian with a first down on Monroe's 35-yard line instead of the usual kickoff at the beginning of the second half. The Adrian team drove from this point of vantage to a touchdown, which tied the score, 12 to 12, and there was no more scoring.

HERE IS RULE
Now, here is the rule under which the penalty was inflicted:

"Failure of either team to be on the field ready to play at the scheduled time for the beginning of the game or at the end of the 15-minute intermission gives to the opponents the privilege (should the referee deem the delay inexcusable) of putting the ball in play by a scrimmage on the 35-yard line of the offending team."

Well, now, does the rule apply? Was the referee right in granting the demand of the Adrian coach? Frankly I do not believe he was.

The rule does not seem to me to apply. The rule was designed to prevent stalling in the dressing room, such as a boxer practices when he waits in his dressing room until his opponent has had time to sit in the ring and become a bit nervous. A coach might wish to keep his men back a minute or two to allow the enemy to become jittery waiting for the delayed opponent to appear. The rule properly is titled "Delay in Reaching Field."

But at Monroe BOTH TEAMS WERE ON THE FIELD, waiting for the band to desist.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—
Examinations were held at Notre Dame the other day . . . the dispatch didn't say whether Southern California plays were included in the tests. . . Joe Judge is near the end of his baseball trail . . . but the Cleveland Indians and a few other teams would like to take him off Mr. Griffith's hands. . . Clyde Marion, drafted by the Reds for 1932 service, comes back to the big leagues at the age of 35 . . . he was with the Tigers for five years . . . and did a stretch with the Browns . . . How about an inter-sectional football game between San Quentin and Sing Sing?

VOTE FOR NIGHT BALL
Rock Island in the Mississippi Valley Baseball league, leading team in attendance figures for the circuit, played 43 home games—32 in the afternoon and 11 at night. The night games proved nearly two and a half times as popular with the fans.

Seven Churches Unite In Service Thursday Morning

STORES, PUBLIC OFFICES CLOSE THANKSGIVING

ORANGE, Nov. 25.—Stores, public offices, public library and schools of the city are to be closed tomorrow in observance of Thanksgiving day. In common with other schools of the county, schools here will not resume sessions until Monday. Provision has been made for baskets to be sent needy families of the city.

In the morning at 10 o'clock, a union service is to be held at the First Methodist church with the Rev. L. V. Lucas as chairman of the program committee. The sermon will be delivered by the Rev. J. Alvin Shirley of the Trinity Episcopal church and other pastors who will assist him are Dr. Robert Burns McAulay, the Rev. J. S. Sorenson and the Rev. E. J. Sawyer.

The President's proclamation is to be read by the Rev. Mr. Sawyer, the invocation is to be given by Dr. McAulay and the Scripture reading is to be given by the Rev. Mr. Sorenson. Seven churches, the First Methodist, Christian, Presbyterian, Free Methodist, Mennonite, Baptist and Episcopal are uniting in the service.

Muscle is under the direction of Miss Mae Kimball and will be furnished by the adult choir of the First Methodist church. A quartet, including Miss Kimball, Miss Ellen Saffern and Carl Stuckey and Lawrence Hemphill will give selections.

The Case of the Missing Sandals

By Nancy Barr Mavity

The arraignment of Earl Vincent was a brief and formal affair.

Ruth, who had nerved herself to fight through the crowd that flocks to a sensational murder trial, was surprised to find the courtroom almost empty. The rows of vacant chairs gave it the aspect of a deserted school room, save for the small knot of men gathered inside the railing—the court reporter at his table, Graham and several other attorneys chatting amicably with their backs to the main section of the courtroom, three or four reporters of the "fourthhouse beat" drifting in unconcernedly and loitering across the barrier. Several defendants had already mumbled the formula of their pleas before Peter entered the courtroom. In fact, he would not have been there at all if he had not thought that Ruth might derive some comfort and support from his presence.

To her this was no empty formula, dulled by repetition, but a vital cry in the life of the man she loved. Peter passed her without speaking, for her connection with Vincent and with himself had thus far been kept from the knowledge of the other papers, but she turned to him with a grateful look and encouraging smile.

One of the attorneys was arguing with the judge and Graham for a change in the date set for the trial of his client.

"If convenient to the district attorney, I'd like to have the case put over a week, your honor," he said. "I have an important business engagement for the week of the thirteenth."

The judge removed the spectacles from his nose, wiped them on a large white handkerchief, shook out the handkerchief with a flourish, and looked down from the bench with an ironic and comprehending smile.

"Hm, yes—I believe the open golf tournament is set for the week of the thirteenth," he observed. "It would be a misfortune of justice if you didn't get the second leg on the championship cup, wouldn't it?" A snicker from one of the reporters brought a severely reproving glance from the bench. "Would—say, I twenty-second suit you, Mr. District Attorney?"

Graham's shining blond head nodded assent.

"Perfectly, your honor. I only hope the weakness of Mr. Tracy's case will not put him off his game."

The array of attorneys at the long table thinned as one by one they buckled the straps of their briefcases and withdrew when their cases had been set for trial. To Ruth, sitting with cold hands clasped in her lap, it seemed horrible that they should be so casual, should exchange friendly partings with the district attorney.

He did not look like the ruthless prosecutor she had expected. These men, with whom he was about to engage in combat with the freedom of the future, the very lives of fellow human beings at stake, seemed to be his friends.

"The case of the people against Earl Vincent."

Earl rose. He was thin and pale, but in the set of his shoulders was a new pulse and assurance. The boyish impulsiveness of his face had subtly matured. He had endured the days in jail with a calm fortitude, betraying no anxiety even though he had been held incommunicado except for a visit from the public defender.

His hands, resting lightly on the edge of the table, were still the hands of a dreamer, but his eyes, raised to the judge's bench, were the eyes of a man who has learned to face life steadily and unflinching.

"Not guilty," he said in a clear and natural voice.

But Peter scarcely heard the words. He darted through the swinging gate in the railing and dropped into a seat beside Ruth.

"Why is nobody here?" she whispered. "I thought there'd be a crowd."

"Oh, nobody cares about an arraignment," Peter said, too intent to soften this callous dismissal of a scene that to Ruth was fraught with harrowing significance. "When did Harrison come into this?" he demanded urgently. "You didn't tell me."

"Harrison?" Ruth stared blankly.

"Leo Harrison—the big man in the gray suit, who's talking now. He says he's been retained by Vincent. Do you mean to say you didn't know?"

"I don't know anything about it. They haven't let me see Earl. I never even heard of Harrison."

"Somebody must have got the money—and plenty of it—to hire him. Could it be Earl's father?"

"Mr. Vincent hasn't any money. And I know Earl hasn't. Of course I'd have given him anything I had—I told Mr. Vincent that. But there was nothing we could do but leave it to the public defender."

Peter pushed up from the floor, frowning in deep perplexity.

"Well, Harrison is a good man—and an expensive one. He wouldn't get interested in a case just for the publicity; he doesn't need to. You'd better cut along out of here, before the boys wonder who you are and why I'm talking to you."

"I'll make up some kind of a yarn that'll hold them. If they try to buzz me about it, this was so sudden I had to get at it quick, or I'd have waited to see you later. But it's just as well I didn't—there's something darned funny about this, and I've got to find out what it is."

Ruth slipped out of the courtroom as the judge rose from his chair and the group inside the barrier dissolved.

"What brings you down among us poor common people?" one of the reporters asked as Peter strolled nonchalantly forward, swinging the gate behind him. "Trying to find out how the other half lives? I thought arraignments were beneath your notice."

"Oh, my wife has a girl friend visiting her—that girl I was talking to a minute ago—and she was all thrilled to death to see the inside of a courtroom, so I had to oblige."

Job, even if I did have to make a black and blue spot on your arm before you realized that I wasn't inviting you to lunch just for the sake of being seen in august company. But I want your undivided attention, so we'll let it wait until we're in your office."

"Well, what's all the deep, dark conspiracy?" Harrison asked, when Peter, his feet elevated to the seat of a tapestry upholstered chair, was filling the air with the smoke of an inferior brand of pipe tobacco, which mingled with the less obnoxious fragrance of Harrison's cigar.

"Of course, you know we don't try a case in the newspapers, or anything like that," Peter began.

"No, never," Harrison agreed with sarcastic emphasis.

"Still, I don't mind telling you privately," Peter continued unperturbed, "that I'm working like hell to get Vincent out of this jam."

"I've noticed your efforts. I thought you were dashing about in disinterested pursuit of a sensational story—art for art's sake, as it were. Still, you do seem to have given some energy to suggesting alternatives to Vincent's guilt. The other papers have all plumped against him from the start."

"They had to. They didn't have anything else. I have. I don't mind telling you that I know all that's known about this story—more than Graham knows more than Vincent, himself, knows."

"With all due modesty," Harrison twinkled.

"With all due modesty, Peter echoed soberly. "You're Vincent's attorney, and I'm pro-Vincent in this yarn. I think I might be useful to you."

Harrison leaned back in his chair, his keen dark eyes fixed meditatively on Peter's earnest face.

"What you mean is," he said at last, "that, with all you know, I know something you don't, and you're aching to find out what it is. Am I right?"

"Quite," Peter dropped the word with a decisive click. "Do I get it?"

"Well, I don't know why not. I have me rather puzzled. What do you want to ask me?"

"I want to know how you come into this case. You weren't in it before. I'd like to think that my stories in the Herald worked on your sympathies to go out crumpling for the under dog, but I don't flatter myself."

"You needn't. As to how I came into the case, that is what puzzles me. I talked with Vincent last night for the first time. He seemed surprised to have me here in. At first he thought either you or a girl named Ruth Morgan must have mixed me—he looks on you two as his guardian angels. That's why I'm willing to take you into my confidence, such as it is."

"No, it wasn't Ruth, and it wasn't I. I couldn't stick your fees, even if it was my own murder trial. That's what I want to know. Who was it?"

"It was a man named Amos Perkins. Do you know him?"

"Never heard of him. What is he like?"

"I don't know."

"How do you mean, you don't know?"

"I mean exactly what I say. I don't know. Some time yesterday a thick envelope, addressed to me, was thrust into the mail slot of the door of the outer office. It was too bulky to slip through. And stuck there until the second mail delivery, when the postman called my secretary's attention to it, because he couldn't put the mail in."

"It had been mailed?"

"No, delivered by hand. An ordinary cheap envelope. I didn't see it until I came in from court yesterday afternoon. In the envelope was a thousand dollars in small bills—that's what made me so bulky—and a note authorizing me to take over Earl Vincent's defense, signed Amos Perkins."

"Writing disguised?" Peter asked.

"Not likely. You'd love to have that bit of melodrama, wouldn't you?"

"No, I wouldn't," Peter contradicted. "I've got all the melodrama I can handle. I want simplicity for a change."

"Well, here's the note. You can see it for yourself."

Peter bent his near-sighted eyes close to the single sheet of cheap, unruled paper on which a few lines were written in a shaky hand, with a pen that had sputtered and left a shower of ink spots in its progress.

"Enclosed please find one thousand dollars ($1000) with which to prove that Earl Vincent did not kill the woman known as Luna, and oblige."

Your respectfully,
Amos Perkins, St. Regis Hotel.

P. S. The innocent must not suffer for the guilty," he read.

"No, I don't think it's a disguised hand," Peter agreed. "He's an old man, but not illiterate. Rather punctilious, in fact. He hasn't mixed up 'respectfully' with 'respectively'—the way most uneducated persons do, and he's trying to be businesslike—notice that repetition of the amount of money in parenthesis. But the postscript isn't so impersonal."

"The poor old soul doesn't own a fountain pen, or he'd never have struggled with that rusty thing, and ink that has been exposed to the air till it's nearly solid. It's rather queer that any one with such marks of poverty about him should have a thousand dollars in cash to throw around. He was evidently doing the thing as neatly and properly as he

TELL DATE OF ORANGE SHOW DUCK DINNER

Announcement has just been made by the officials of the National Orange show at San Bernardino of the annual wild duck dinner to be held in the Orange Show building on the night of Wednesday, December 2. This event is the opening gun in the campaign for the 22nd annual citrus classic which will hold forth in this city from February 18 to 25.

The event has double importance this year in that it will celebrate a one hundred million dollar citrus crop which breaks all records for production, except one, there being a total of $3,000,000 of citrus fruits shipped from California. The second event of importance is to celebrate the fact that Old Man Depression has been buried and the National Orange Show, like other California institutions foresees a prosperous season ahead.

The invitation list includes exhibitors, chambers of commerce, railroad and packing house officials, city, county and state department heads and others. Among the guests will be Lieutenant Governor Frank Merriam.

R. E. Roberts, president of the twenty-second show, is authority for the announcement that the prospects are for a greater number of features than ever before. The decorative theme for the show will be centered around the two-hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington.

HONORS AT YALE WON BY S. A. BOY

Word has been received that Melvin Harter, a graduate of Santa Ana High and Junior college has been awarded a prize of $100 for leading his history class the past year. The award was given for regular class-room work and was confined to first year men.

The award is to be used in the selection of valuable reference books for the student's own library. Besides his studies Melvin has been director of a Hi "Y" group of boys, taught a young man's Bible class in the Methodist Sunday school near the campus, sung in the glee club and the Chapel Choir and played center on the basketball team which tied three times in the finals for the league championship with the winning team which had not been defeated in three years. The Yale team lost by one point. Melvin has been chosen to sing in a male quartet which is to give a program in New York tomorrow evening.

He is the son of Mrs. Bessie Harter, 1136 West Second street, who teaches in the Mexican adult department under the direction of Mrs. Golden Weston. Another son of Mrs. Harter's is student body president of Fremont High school in Los Angeles.

GREAT CROWD HEARS SHULER HURL CHALLENGE AT RADIO COMMISSION TO TAKE VOTE

Declaring the instant silencing of his radio station KGEF at Los Angeles by the Federal Radio commission has brought the American people face to face with a fight to protect their constitutional guarantee of free speech, the Rev. Bob Shuler, controversial figure in the religious and political life of that city, addressing a crowd that overflowed the auditorium in the First Methodist church here last night, hurled a challenge to the commission which he dared them to accept.

This is it:

"They dare not take a vote in voice shall be heard but I am saying Southern California to settle whether KGEF shall stay on the air or shall not stay on the air. I dare them to. I'll even raise the money to finance taking of the vote any way they want it taken; by radio or newspaper or any other way. If they accept the challenge and I do not beat them two to one I'll close the right immediately."

The dynamic personality of the man, his evident sincerity and his readiness to admit he has made mistakes on the radio carried the huge audience with him with the result that by unanimous voice it directed the Rev. Geo. A. Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church to send a telegram to the radio commission and to President Hoover asking that the right of free speech be sustained and KGEF restored to the air.

Free Speech Crisis

"This ruling presents a crisis in the American right of free speech. It is the first ruling ever given which can go to the supreme court directly on a question of free speech, and we are going to do it. I have made some awful blunders over the radio, I admit it, but KGEF has been a deterrent that has held back the promotion schemes of rascals and held in check the schemes of corrupt politicians as no other agency in the city."

"The gambling ship off Long Beach is evidently in the public interest because I have heard it advertised over three Los Angeles radio stations. In Los Angeles there is a man who deals in used cars making loans of $200 on which he collects $35 to $65 interest in two months. He is now in court for usurious interests but his stuff is going over the radio and no licenses are being withdrawn."

Over-ruled Examiner

"The commission sent Mr. Yost, its chief examiner, here to make an investigation of complaints. He took 20,000 pages of testimony and 100,000 pages of exhibits. He found KGEF was serving the public interest and recommended it be licensed. But they overruled their chief examiner and it was the first time such a thing had happened."

"I am not accusing these men of dishonor. They are human as we are, but when mighty political forces begin to bring pressure they begin to scratch their heads and think something may be wrong after all. There was something else besides evidence which determined what the commission's ruling should be. I will prove it before the supreme court. It was a political decision. That's why I have made up my mind, if I can raise the money and I'm going pretty well, to take it to the supreme court."

Many Contributions

"Until yesterday the only notification I had that I was off the air was a yellow telegram from the radio commission for which I had to pay $4.77. An inspired school teacher at my Sunday meeting wrote me a check for $4.77 and suggested 1000 of them be secured to carry the case to the supreme court. I read the note half in jest little knowing what he would mean. Today checks for $1,850 had been received and only two of them were for more than $4.77. They are coming in by the hundreds, every mail brings them."

"This was the first radio station ever shut off instantly. They were afraid to leave me on the air even for a week. They knew that with the newspaper publicity, had I been permitted to go on the air, I would have raised $25,000 and could have gone to the supreme court. They knew they would be licked. Radio Support Received. "Men whom I have least expected have rallied to my support in this fight. Voluntarily station KNX announced last Wednesday night it would like letters saying whether Shuler should or should not stay on the air. That was all Saturday they had 3000 letters and they were 15 to 1 to put KGEF back on the air. "If this thing can stand it marks the final defeat of any independent voice in America that dares raise against evil. Fewer and fewer newspapers dare fight the battles of the people. You fortunately have one of them here. Most of them are in control of special interests. "I am not pleading that my own amendment Shuler said:

"I owned a radio station worth $100,000. I owned it before the commission was created but they came and confiscated my property and the basis of their logic is, we don't like what he says, but we do like what these smoothsayers, toothpaste and cigarette men say."

"If they can do that we haven't any free country left."

"I'm as certain as I live that when this case comes before the supreme court there will be a different tune in the phonograph."

Cites Petitions Filed

Asserting that 144,000 people signed a petition and 20,000 others wrote letters to the commission asking KGEF be kept on the air only to be referred to as "sheep" and that there were only five men who complained, one of whom has since begged off and another died so that only three actually appeared before the commission, Shuler declared:

"If the American people have not the right of petition, left this is no longer a government for the people."

And he promised, "This is going to be brought on the floor of congress in its next session. Something is going to snap. They have thrown down the challenge and the American people are not going to let it lie in the dust."

Circle To Hear Goodwill Head

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 25. — A general meeting of the Ladies Aid of the Methodist Episcopal church will be held December 3 at the home of Mrs. W. W. Dungan on East Ocean avenue, commencing at 1:30 o'clock.

Circle No. 2 will hold a bazaar. A social hour will follow. John Winterbourne, manager of the Goodwill industry in Santa Ana, will be the speaker.

TROJANS PLAN HOMECOMING WEEK NOV. 30

Plans are being completed by the board of directors of the alumni association of the University of Southern California for the 1931 Trojan homecoming, scheduled for the week of November 30-December 5.

Open house for alumni by fraternities, a feature stag rally, a formal football dance, receptions, teas, luncheons, dinners, and a burlesque parade by competing campus organizations preceding the Washington-S. C. gridiron game on December 5 in the Olympic Stadium are to be highlights of the "grand reunion of old grads."

Cups will be forwarded for the most spectacular floats, and prizes will be presented to fraternity houses most effectively decorated or disguised.

University Park will be overrun with thousands of ex-presidents, ex-football captains, ex-students, and ex-coeds, who are to return to their Alma Mater for homecoming week. Frank Hadlock, executive secretary of the S. C. alumni association predicts.

The Hotel Normandie at Sixth and Normandie in Los Angeles in the Wilshire district has been made an official Trojan hotel and it is expected will be host to many visiting alumni during the homecoming as well as over weekends when important football games are scheduled.

GIVE SILVER MEDAL WITH REFRIGERATOR

For the man who is looking for both utility and sentiment in a Christmas present for his wife, there is nothing which fills the bill more admirably than a good electric refrigerator, says P. G. Wallace, Santa Ana representative for Frigidaire. In addition, he says, this particular kind of Christmas gift has the decided advantage of being able to pay for itself through the added economy and added convenience it makes possible.

"This year we have added a fine sentimental touch to Frigidaire by supplying it with a silver medallion on which can be engraved the initials of the giver and the recipient or some other suitable greetings, left to the choice of the purchaser. The medallion can be permanently affixed to the porcelain surface of the cabinet and so furnish a lasting reminder of the giver's generosity and thoughtfulness," he said.

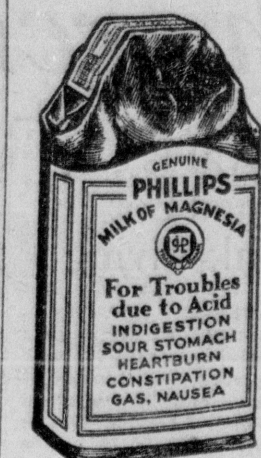

Mothers Guests When Girl Scouts Of La Habra Meet

LA HABRA, Nov. 25.—The La Habra Girl Scouts held a party at the Woman's clubhouse Monday night at which the mothers were honored guests. Forty-two Scouts and 36 mothers were present for the program and games. The program included a piano solo by Betty Harpster, a reading by Evelyn Willard, piano solo by Jean Little, tap dance by Ruth Marie Launer and Evelyn Willard, accompanied by Jean Little, and a reading by Viola Leutwiler.

Girls receiving tenderfoot pins were Naomi Peppers, Lenora Noble, Marie Rittenhouse, Rena Huffman, Florence Hamilton, Helen Burnip, Virginia Hickman, Marie Pearcey, Jean and Joan Cody, Grace Nichols and Myne Shavely. Refreshments were served by the Lincoln school Scouts, under the direction of members of the Scout committee of the Woman's club, which included Mrs. A. W. McBride, Mrs. Bruce Stanford and Mrs. H. J. Livingston.

WHEN FOOD SOURS

ABOUT two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomach. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless liquid; pleasant, efficient and harmless. But it kills excess acids, and has remained the standard with the doctors for more than 50 years.

It is the ideal remedy for constipation, headaches, heartburn, nausea, sick stomach, biliousness. Your dentist will tell you he knows of nothing better for keeping the teeth and mouth in a fine, healthy condition. It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. "You needn't tell me — I know Camel is the fresh cigarette!"

FRESHNESS

— that's the thing! CAMELS are never parched or toasted

HAVE you noticed the new trend in cigarettes?—freshness is the popular thing.

That's because a fresh cigarette, as demonstrated by Camels, is something smokers have discovered as better than anything they ever tried before.

Camels are fresh in the Camel Humidor Pack because they're made fresh to start with—blended of choice, delicately mild, sun-ripened tobaccos in which the natural moisture and fragrant flavors are vigilantly safeguarded.

The tobaccos in Camels are never parched or toasted—the Reynolds method of scientifically applying heat guarantees against that.

That's why we say with so much assurance that Camels are truly fresh. They're made fresh—not parched or toasted—and then they're kept fresh in the Camel Humidor Pack.

Try Camels' freshness for a change. Switch over for just one day, then change back—if you can.

ASKS AID IN FINDING WORK FOR MORE MEN

Acting in conjunction with the entire Southern California division of the President's Organization for Unemployment Relief, the Industrial committee of the Orange county group is undertaking a campaign to solicit the co-operation of employers in finding work for more men.

George Raymer, chairman of the Industrial committee, one of the groups functioning under direction of Charles Rutledge, county representative on the president's group in California, is preparing a letter for mailing to the head of every industry in the county.

In this letter employers are urged to consider certain priorities of employment which are recommended by the President's organization. In addition to this request the letter will urge a survey in each industry in an effort to provide more work.

Suggests Spreading Work
Speaking of this move in an attempt to solve the unemployment situation Raymer said, "The spreading of available work in industrial, commercial and professional enterprises is the most fruitful field for unemployment relief. The workers recognize this and have generously shared their hours of labor with those less fortunate ones who have been unable to find work."

"I believe that while many employers have made sincere efforts to spread employment, the field has, as yet, been only partially covered."

Raymer in his letter is asking employers to give first preference to married men with dependents, who have been residents of California for six months or more.

Second preference to single men or women with dependents, similarly resident. Third preference should go, he said, to single men or women above school age without dependents, but with no other means of support. The same resident requirements should prevail.

Urges Survey
In addition to asking for certain preference in employing persons, Raymer, on behalf of the committee, is asking all industries in the county and commercial establishments and officers to make a special survey to determine what may be done toward giving employment to an additional number of workers, either through the shortening of the working week, the working day, or by staggering employment or by such other means as may seem appropriate in the various establishments.

He is also suggesting that special consideration should be given to the provision of part time employment at least for the "white collar" class which heretofore has received less than reasonable attention, and which, a survey shows, represents a need and a distress often as acute as that of the industrial worker.

TRUCK LOAD OF
THANKSGIVING
FOOD OBTAINED

More than a truck load of vegetables and groceries, food for Thanksgiving dinners in many Santa Ana homes which otherwise would have gone hungry, was contributed last night by hundreds who flocked to the Methodist church to hear Bob Shuler plead for the freedom of speech.

The meeting was held at the suggestion of the Rev. U. E. Harding under auspices of the Citizens' Emergency Relief committee and admission was by donation of some article of food, to be turned over to the Salvation Army and Goodwill Industries for distribution among the city's needy families.

"There is a tremendous amount of unemployment in this city, more than the people realize. Do not consider what you have given to-night as a gift to the unemployed—consider it as a Thanksgiving offering. You will all get a chance later on to contribute further to the relief of unemployment," Bob Speed, secretary of the committee told those present.

"We must begin to dig and dig deep to meet the situation and bring relief to between 800 and 900 Santa Ana homes. This donation tonight is just a way to get something into these homes for Thanksgiving," said the Rev. George A. Warner, pastor of the First M. E. church.

In introducing the Rev. Mr. Shuler, Dr. Warner said, "They are trying to shut him up. Do you think they can?" A chorus of "no" swept the packed house.

"I don't agree with everything he does or says," Dr. Warner continued, "don't believe he does himself, but there is certainly a lot more in Los Angeles he could have told about and still be telling the truth. The closing of radio station KGEE is one of the most radical things I know in the history of this planet. It is an attempt to prevent people from saying what they have to say. We may not agree with what Bob Shuler says but we must fight to the death to see that he has the right to say it. This planet has not developed far enough so that people with vast wealth and vast power can use that wealth and power without some supervision."

October Gasoline
Tax $3,374,838

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 25.—California received $3,374,838 in gasoline taxes during October, according to a statement today by John C. Corbett, chairman of the state board of equalization. The September gasoline tax totaled $3,430,457, board records showed.

The total gasoline tax collected for the first 10 months of 1931 is $35,241,597, Corbett said. Assuming that the tax for the last two months of the year maintains the average, the state should collect approximately $42,000,000 in 1931 for highway use, in Corbett's opinion.

CITRUS GROWERS WARNED OF OVERPRODUCTION MENACE AS WORLD SURVEY IS COMPLETED

WARNING California citrus growers that unless they look ahead and begin paying some attention to the laws of supply and demand they face a repetition of the story of the California grape, the apple, peach, cotton and wheat, Harold E. Wahlberg, Orange county farm advisor, delivered an address over KREG during the Farm Bureau hour this week which citrus growers will find of interest.

Recently Wahlberg completed a survey of the citrus situation in relation to production, marketing and the history of California. It is not only a farmer's problem but likewise a responsibility of the banker, loan association, insurance company, real estate operator and other business channels that encourage and financially back farm production.

Must Curtail Production
Suggesting something must be done to curtail production to meet demand Wahlberg said "As long as the amount of agricultural production is left to the option of the individual producer and those who are willing to help him, agriculture will probably always be faced with the problem of under or over production in relation to the available market. With uncontrolled production, it is reasonable to expect that satisfactory returns can not be secured indefinitely, even with the most efficient or monopolistic organization? Is it not just as important to know what the limits of production are as it is to learn the limits of marketing that production? I think we are agreed that there is a most erratic and uneven distribution of goods in this old world when we see the spectre of our warehouses, granaries and fruit stores bulging on the one side and masses of humanity starving in many lands and wanting, even under the shadow of the Stars and Stripes."

"But whether a case of under-consumption or over-production, the effect on the producer is the same—he gets what is left and that is less than the cost of production. He becomes an unintentional philanthropist. With his boundless crops and heavy shipments he keeps the railroads going, he supports the jobber, he helps the retailer and the banker is secured for his loan. It is an old story, but the urge for extended plantings and expanded production goes blindly on."

Facts for Producers
Calling attention to effects of the current depression to make producers pause and look ahead Wahlberg says, "Even the citrus grower who has been mantled with a feeling of security because of most satisfactory returns in the past decade or more is seeking instruction on the use of the economic periscope, telescope and microscope." And then he calls attention to many pages of facts for the citrus grower to heed.

From 1903 to 1930 California's citrus acreage has increased from 50,000 to 212,700 and its production from 8,000,000 to 32,300,000 boxes with 24,500 unproductive acres in 1929. Acreage and production in this state has doubled in the last 15 years.

Florida's acreage jumped from 39,000 in 1903 to 154,956 in 1928 and her production from 1,465,000 to 14,500,000 boxes by 1929. Her acreage increased 300 per cent from 1913 to 1923 with 130,000 acres expected to be in production next year.

In 10 years Texas has increased her orange acreage 10 fold with 1,440,122 acres planted in 1930. Arizona's acreage grew from 600 in 1919 to 3490 in 1930 with an increase from 33,000 to 110,000 boxes in production.

Land Price Contrast
On top of all this tremendous increase in acreage and production he points out that citrus acreage in Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi can be purchased for from $50 to $200 per acre whereas citrus acreage in California represents an investment of $1000 to $5000 per acre and that is something for the California grower to think about.

Foreign orange production gives him even more to think about, because with increased production here foreign markets must be found to make the crop profitable.

"When our citrus industry goes to the foreign marts it meets the

SHOPS IN NEED OF MORE TOYS

'Bout this time of year, a month before Christmas, the busiest persons in Santa Ana are the Santa Ana firemen, for their job now is to help Santa Claus get ready to distribute his toys, and firemen at all the Santa Ana stations can be found working with saws, hammers, nails and paint brushes, putting last year's toys in shape for the poor children this Christmas.

Each year the Santa Ana fire department takes upon itself the job of seeing that every poor child in Santa Ana gets a visit from Santa Claus. And not just a visit, but a toy of some kind.

Santa Ana people have been very good about turning over broken and dilapidated toys to the department and the firemen put them in shape, make them look like new to gladden some little heart which would know no Santa Claus were it not for the fire fighters. But more material is needed at the repair shop, it was said today, to meet the demand this year, and an appeal is made to bring in toys for this purpose.

Early on Christmas morning a big fire truck is loaded up with the renovated toys and a tour of the city is started. Seated with the fireman driver is Santa Claus himself, and at each stop the gallant fellow gets down, pulls out a handsome present and presents it in person to the boy and girl for whom it is intended.

And so that no child is overlooked, the firemen canvass the city prior to Christmas and names and addresses of all little boys and girls who are worthy are taken, so that none are overlooked at Christmas time.

More toys can be used by the firemen. They are about out of material now, but they will still have time to repair and paint many other toys, so people of Santa Ana are asked to call the fire department, if they have any of last year's toys they would like to donate to the firemen. The fire department will call for the old toys, fix it up and deliver it to a boy or girl somewhere in the city. Old dolls, old tricycles, bicycles, wagons, guns or any kind of a toy will be appreciated.

Fireman Henry Reed is chairman of production for the firemen this year and the repair work is being done at Stations No. 1 and 4. At Stations No. 2 and 3, firemen are busy with paint brushes.

The class of work being done is far above what would be expected and virtually all of the toys look as new as if they just came out of a downtown store, it is said by those who have inspected the work.

Bride, Deserted
In Three Hours,
Asks Annulment

A three hour marriage was revealed here yesterday when Dorothy Wolfe, who married Lawrence Wolfe at Riverside on August 5, filed suit in superior court for annulment of their wedding. The complaint said Wolfe deserted his bride three hours after the ceremony. It also was alleged that Wolfe never intended to consummate the marriage relation.

Two other wives started divorce suits, Ellenor Horry bringing suit against John E. Horry, charging failure to provide, and Martha E. McMahan seeking a divorce from Boons M. McMahan, accusing him of failure to provide and desertion. Mr. and Mrs. Horry married at Los Angeles in 1914 and separated last year. Mr. and Mrs. McMahan married in 1929 and separated last year in Washington.

SUPERVISORS
ON DISTRICT

The board of supervisors yesterday continued for one week definite action on creating the proposed sanitary district at Dana Point, a project which recently was placed before the board for the second time by Judge J. B. Tucker, appearing for the Dana Point backers. Statements made by members of the board indicated that they feel an additional assessment burden on land holders in the proposed district would be unwise at this time. It was pointed out that the board believes presentation of a petition signed by property owners would be a logical step to precede action on its part.

Supervisor George Jeffery, in whose district the proposed district lies, said he felt the best plan would be to get the Dana Point, Serra and Capistrano districts together and construct one large outfall sewer. Judge Tucker said the proposed Dana Point district is a first step toward organization of the larger area. The sewer system is installed at present and the main objection now is the manner of disposal, Tucker said.

A former attempt to form the district was dropped after objections by property owners and the First National bank of Santa Ana, which had an interest in the area. The proposed new district excludes this land, Judge Tucker pointed out.

La Habra Church

LA HABRA, Nov. 25.—The La Habra Baptist church will hold a special Thanksgiving service Thursday at 10 a. m. The meeting will be in charge of Joe Evans and the singing will be led by Fred Jordan.

4-H MEMBERS TO BE GUESTS
AT STOCK SHOW

Two hundred members of Orange county 4-H clubs and scores of local farmers interested in livestock will attend the sixth annual Great Western Livestock show and rodeo opening at Los Angeles November 28 and continuing until December 5, it was indicated at offices of the County Farm Bureau today. Possibility of local exhibits being entered was also indicated.

November 28 has been set aside by the officials of the show as the official 4-H day when boys and girls, properly enrolled in the 4-H clubs of Southern California, all wearing their green 4-H caps with the four-leaf clover on them, will be the guests of the show. Lunch will be provided by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

Judging of 4-H hogs, cattle and sheep will take place early in the morning. Auction sales of these 4-H animals will be at 9 a. m., December 2 for hogs; 9 a. m., December 3 for beef cattle, and 9 a. m., December 4 for fat sheep. 4-H members are urged to be present at the time for auctioning of their stock.

Those attending will assemble at the farm advisor's office, court house annex, Santa Ana, and be ready to leave at 3 a. m., Saturday. The caravan will proceed via Anaheim to Orangefield, then west through Buena Park, groups from the northern and western parts of the county may join the caravan at these points. Only leaders, parents supplying transportation, and 4-H boys and girls enrolled for the 1932 club year and wearing the regulation green caps, are eligible to attend.

W. M. Corp, assistant farm advisor, has been invited by the officials of the show to discuss the market types of beef cattle on the opening day of the show at 10 a. m.

One million dollars worth of livestock; beef, lamb and pork representing the blue bloods of the animal kingdom from 25 eastern states will arrive in Los Angeles Thanksgiving day to be a part of the entries at the show. The animals are the choice of the prize-winners in all eastern exhibitions during the year and are being brought to California to compete against western prize-winners for the national honors of breeding and quality.

The animals are being shipped in a special 40-car train under the care of herdsmen who have special quarters on the train.

How We Create Big Business in Dentistry

Our plan is simple. We give better dentistry at reasonable prices, and it is Without Pain.

REMEMBER:

Most any dentist can extract a tooth and not hurt you. It doesn't require marked skill to remove decay from a tooth and fill it.

BUT LET US TELL YOU THIS: IF you wish a full upper or lower bridge with only a few teeth remaining for attachments, it takes a man with experience in that particular branch of dentistry, or you will be sadly disappointed in the appearance of it, in the wearing quality and the chewing service it should give you.

Clubwomen Anticipate County Federation Board Meeting

With Santa Ana Ibbell society as the hostess organization at the approaching bi-monthly executive board meeting of the Orange County Federation of Women's clubs on Friday, December 4, elaborate plans are being made by the local clubwomen to offer a hospitality in keeping with the excellent Christmas program promised by Mrs. Earl E. Smith of Anaheim, federation president.

Members of the hostess club will have prominent part on this program and will direct the Christmas music to be featured. Mrs. John A. Tessmann will talk on Mexico, and Mrs. J. M. Cloyes, who is county chairman of literature, will discuss a list of Christmas books. Mrs. Carl Mock, county chairman of legislation, will present a report on the state-wide water plan in connection with various reports to be offered, including those of the southern district convention held last week in Laguna Beach.

Mrs. S. W. Stanley of the hostess club, will conduct an open forum with Mrs. Archibald Edwards of Fullerton, education chairman in the county organization, and Mrs. A. W. Miller of Placentia, Round Table club, international relations chairman, as leaders. Questions for general discussion will include "Is this the time to economize in our schools?" "Would you favor the dismissal of married teachers when husbands hold remunerative positions?" and "How can clubwomen best express the spirit of peace on earth, good will towards man?"

It is pointed out that the board meeting will be of general interest to clubwomen, all of whom are invited to attend the sessions. Reservations for luncheon to be served at noon in the peacock room, may be made through Mrs. Paul Bailey, resident of the hostess club, by telephoning her at 3702W.

Meyers Entertain for Y. L. I. Social Club

The proximity of Thanksgiving Day was evidenced in decorations for the supper with which the Y. L. I. Social club party was concluded at the Julius Meyer home, 628 Bush street, last night. Baby hyacinths in rust shades adorned the fall effect.

Bridge prizes were awarded after the supper. Mrs. Ray Heim and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Murphy, first and second scores. Guests included Messrs and Mesdames Ray Heim, Clyde Taylor, Lyde Aschen, Herbert E. Carter, P. Murphy, P. C. Dietler, Ernest Ostukher and B. L. Halderman; Mrs. Robert M. Penden and Mr. J. D. Meyer.

The club will meet with Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Murphy December 14.

Women Voters Leader Attends Meeting of State Board

Returning home yesterday from San Bernardino where she attended the executive board meeting of the California League of Women Voters, Mrs. Carl Mock, 2116 North Ross street, president of the Santa Ana league and chairman of living costs in the state organization, today declared that the meeting had been a most interesting one, attracting board members and clubwomen from all sections of the state.

Sessions were held Monday in the St. Francis hotel of the northern city, and were conducted by the California league president, Mrs. O. Sheppard Barnum of Los Angeles. To Mrs. Mock was delegated the honor of presiding at the luncheon, which attracted fully 280 prominent women. The hostess club complimented the Santa Ana worker in the league, by presenting her with a handsome corsage bouquet of gardenias.

The crowd at the luncheon was augmented by many clubwomen from the Bay City district for the afternoon program, over which Mrs. Mock presided, and to which she added a talk on the state-wide water plans. This feature was followed by a round table discussion of proposed legislation, which brought forth many interesting and valuable opinions.

First of Party Series Is Enjoyable Event

The first of a series of benefit card parties under the auspices of the Lowell P.-T. A. was given recently, with members of the ways and means committee as hostesses in the kindergarten room of the school. The group includes Mesdames R. R. Russell, A. A. Hardin, O. S. Waters, G. E. Brown, J. E. Vale, Dale Griggs, P. Gammell, Both bridge and 500 were played. Those scoring high in the latter game were Frank Hunt and Mrs. L. J. Juden, both of whom were presented with home-made cakes. Mrs. J. A. Lalonde and Mrs. L. M. Crowder were consoled with pretty playing cards.

In bridge, Mrs. G. E. Brown and J. Criddle received cakes for scoring high, and Mrs. E. F. Matthews and Mrs. C. O. Patton were consoled. Refreshments of cake and coffee were served by the committee in charge.

Santa Anans Attend Colorful Ball

Miss Dorothy O'Donnell and Miss Agnes Montgomery had the enjoyable experience last night of being included among a score of guests at a formal ball, given in the Elise Ryan ballroom on Wilshire boulevard, Los Angeles, where prominent dancing teachers and pupils of the Southland were complimented.

The two Santa Ana guests, pupils of the Maurice Kusel studios, Los Angeles, shared the evening's pleasure in the beautifully decorated ballroom, with many celebrated artists and a number of motion picture stars. Among the latter were Miss Barbara Stanwyck and Frank Fay, each of whom made clever little talks.

Pleasant Hospitality Extended Members Of Quill Pen

It was in the home of Miss Dorothy Clarkson, 801 Minter street, that Quill Pen members assembled last night to enjoy their second November program and share the pleasant hospitality extended by Miss Clarkson, assisted by her mother, Mrs. John Clarkson.

Mrs. Herman Reuter, club president, conducted the business meeting of the group, during which the question was raised as to continuing the 20-minute interval as a surprise feature of each session. It was decided that the custom had proven its value in encouraging extemporaneous writing and plot formation, and should be continued throughout the winter at least.

The club constitution was discussed also, and Miss Clarkson as secretary, was instructed to furnish copies that each member might familiarize herself with the rules that govern the organization.

Miss Verna Wells gave the first program number, an expository essay on "Women of Freedom." Mrs. J. U. Vian added to the program a short story, (not her own work) "False Colors," from a current magazine and Miss Clarkson responded to the request of those present by reading first impressions of various members, which she had noted down several years ago at her first meeting with the club as a member.

The evening closed on a friendly social note when the hostess, with the assistance of two guests, Miss Jane Jackson and Mrs. Miller, served an appetizing refreshment course.

Quill Pen members present included in addition to the hostess, Miss Clarkson, and the president, Mrs. Reuter, Mrs. J. D. Campbell, Mrs. R. A. Cushman, Mrs. J. U. Vian, Mrs. N. E. Wells, Mrs. Marshall Harolds, Mrs. Goff, Mrs. Roy Winchester and Miss Verna Wells, while special guests were Mrs. John Clarkson, Mrs. Esther Pierce Miller and Miss Jane Jackson of Hollywood.

Three Church Leagues To Hold Meet Here; Local Club Active

A three-in-one gathering in which the young people's organizations of the Buena Park, Brea and Santa Ana congregational churches will participate at the Y. W. C. A. here Friday at 7:30 p. m. will climax events which have kept the young people of the local congregation active during the past week. Mrs. I. W. MacFarlane, director of the Santa Ana group, together with Miss Vivian Martin, general social chairman, will be in charge of Friday's get-together. Other local chairmen will include Miss Marion Bruner, games, Bert Winslow, social head, and Miss Dorothy Proctor, decorations.

The Rev. Beverly Osten of Los Angeles, director of the young people's organizations of the Southern California conference of Congregational churches, will be guest of honor Friday and will present plans for the mid-winter young people's conference to be held in January at Pasadena or Pomona.

League Tea
Last Sunday evening, members of the Santa Ana league gathered at the Perry F. Schrock home for a reception and program of which William Beaman had charge. Program numbers included a Thanksgiving pageant and vocal solos by Martin Bowman, accompanied by Audrey Dohmer. The Misses Natalie Neff and Marjory Burton were in charge of ten arrangements, and the Misses Carol Smith and Juanita Wallace presided at the tea tables.

Surprise Celebration
Mr. and Mrs. I. W. MacFarlane, league leaders, were complimented at an original affair given at the church Saturday evening when members of the League of Youth conspired to celebrate the twentieth wedding anniversary of their advisors with a mock wedding. The party was planned as a surprise to the MacFarlanes and at the close of the burlesque service the group presented the couple with a handsome set of dishes. Taking part in the "ceremony" were Martin Bowman, "minister," Mary King, Dorothy Proctor, Carol Smith and Lois Frankie, "bridesmaids," and Walter and Richard MacFarlane, "ring-bearers."

Girl Reserves Conduct Impressive Service Of Recognition
Thirty-five Girl Reserves from Santa Ana high school and from Garden Grove were recognized at a semi-annual recognition service of the Girl Reserves of the local Y. W. C. A. conducted Monday evening at the First Methodist church chapel by Miss Katherine Bement and a corps of Girl Reserve workers.

The initiates' entrance was made impressive by a musical accompaniment, played by Miss Mary Nau, while officiating at the service proper were Miss Bement as "Keeper of the Light" and Miss Susanna Alexander as "Herald of the Light." The Girl Reserve Quest song was sung during the ceremony by Miss Ruth Crowl, and as the girls lighted their candles at a central flame Miss Bement explained the meaning of the service and offered a brief invocation.

A recessional, "Follow the Glean," ushered out the newly recognized candidates.

A second service will be held for Junior high school Girl Reserves at the Y. W. C. A. next Wednesday, it was announced today.

YOU and your Friends

Dr. and Mrs. John Bower and daughter and son, Miss Helen and John, of 1324 Bush street, accompanied by Miss Jean Scott of Los Angeles, left today for Selma, Calif., where they plan to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with relatives. They will return Sunday.

Willard White, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. White, 822 East Fourth street, returned yesterday from Stanford university, for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Swales, 2366 Riverside drive, have as a guest over the Thanksgiving holidays Mrs. Kate Wing of Los Angeles, a cousin of Mrs. Swales.

Mr. and Mrs. James Irvine Jr. are expected home from San Francisco tomorrow. They are driving south.

Mrs. W. C. Watkins entertained a group of Santa Ana women at her home at Royal Oak, near Laguna Beach, this past week. Those sharing the three-day house party were Miss Lydia Ward, Mrs. Marie Stanton Everley and Mrs. W. H. Kuhn, all of this city.

Mrs. James Mackin of Creston, Iowa, has arrived for a holiday visit with her daughter, Miss Mayme Mackin of Maxine's and with Mrs. Charles J. Gibboney, 920 North Olive street, wife of C. J. Gibboney of the Santa Ana cafe.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Was, 617 Orange avenue, and their children, Miss Frances, Frank Jr., Billy and Margaret Anne Was, left early this morning to drive to San Jose, where they will spend Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Beam. Mrs. Beam is the mother of Mrs. Was.

Mrs. W. C. Watkins, of "White Gables," 1602 North Ross street, was hostess at a pleasant house-party over the week end, entertaining in her beach home, "Stonehenge" at Coast Royal, Mr. and Mrs. La Verne Gould and children, Billie and Beverly Jane, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Guley were Sunday guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Erwin of Corning, New York, arrived Saturday to spend the winter in California. Mr. Erwin is a brother of E. C. Erwin, 615 South Ross street. The easterners made the trip by automobile, driving 3118 miles in 71 hours.

A party of Santa Ana Junior college students spent the past week end in Big Bear valley, where they found a quantity of snow. Those making the mountain trip were William Friend, Clayton McKeth, Leonard Thompson, Russell Matthews and Murray Patton. The drive was made in Russell Matthews' car.

Miss Eva Doyle, 2044 Greenleaf street, has recently returned from the hospital, where she has been suffering from diphtheria for several weeks.

Women of Y. W. Forum Test Personalities At Meeting

"Personality Quotients" were solemnly determined for a group of Santa Ana women during a series of questions comprising a test, applied yesterday to members of the Women's Forum of the Y.W.C.A. by Mrs. John Backus. The test questions were submitted with the stipulation that they be answered by yes or no. No data on the examination's result was released.

Talks were given by Mrs. Major Anderson on "Wildlife Birds" and Mrs. Carl Sutton on "The Beauty of Advancing Years." Both speakers were introduced by Dr. Hester Oleweller, toastmistress.

Three members were called upon, each to suggest why her neighbor at the luncheon table might be thankful, and these talks were given by Mrs. E. E. Harris, Mrs. Arthur May and Mrs. R. R. Russell, co-sponsors. Mrs. E. E. Harris, Mrs. Esther Covington and Mrs. A. F. Granas.

Fraternal Brotherhood

Thirty members of the supreme office and Victory lodge of Los Angeles were in this city recently attending the covered-dish dinner which members of Santa Ana Fraternal Brotherhood held. There were 125 guests seated at the tables where the menu was served by Mr. and Mrs. George Furtach, Mr. and Mrs. Laird Crane, Laura Sanborn, Earl Hutchinson, Dee Duke and Herman Raymond.

The drill team seated the officers and then gave an exhibition drill. Business of the evening included the welcoming of six new members into the order.

Talks were given by the special guests of the evening, who included Supreme President Hayden Andrews; Supreme Secretary H. B. Goodrich, and Supreme Field Manager, Joe May. They were accompanied by Mrs. Goodrich, Mrs. May, Mr. and Mrs. Horvick, Miss Goodrich, McCabe, Don Milmine, Mrs. Flagg, Mrs. Morgan and others. All the guests contributed to the program.

Concluding hours were spent in dancing.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Harmony Bridge club will meet Friday at 12:30 o'clock for a covered dish luncheon with Mrs. D. B. Brady, 1234 West Fourth street. Members are requested to bring covered dishes and table service.

The Woman's Benefit association will meet with Mrs. E. R. Curtis, 223 South Main street, Friday at 2 p. m., it was announced today.

Prominent San Dimas Couple Wedded in This City

Of general interest through the Southland was the quiet wedding this morning at 10 o'clock, in the home of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Herman J. Powell, 2002 Valencia street, of Miss Jane Walker Caruthers of San Dimas, and Samuel L. Trout, also of San Dimas.

Connected with the Los Angeles county forestry work, Mr. Trout is stationed in San Dimas, where his bride has been one of the most popular girls of the San Dimas high school. It was to avoid the large wedding that would have been necessary in their home community, that the young people decided to make the affair a very simple one in this city.

Their selection of the Rev. Mr. Powell as the officiating minister, was a charming bit of sentiment, as he had conducted the wedding of the bride's parents a number of years ago in San Dimas.

This morning's rites were very simple, and the charming bride was given in the smart little suit which she had chosen for her honeymoon travels. Mrs. Ray I. Caruthers and Mrs. Trout accompanied their daughter and son to Santa Ana, and a very few close friends also witnessed the ceremony.

After a tour of Southland beach cities, the new Mr. and Mrs. Trout will make their home in San Dimas.

Senior Guild Card Affair Held at Stephensons' Home

More than half a hundred members of the Senior Guild, Church of the Messiah, and their friends assembled at the T. E. Stephensons home, 1522 North Broadway, for the following guests at their bridge affair. Hostesses at the event included Mesdames Stephensons, S. W. Nau, Earl S. Morrow, L. A. Chenoweth, W. B. Hellis, Edmund C. West and Miss Boyd Joplin.

Fourteen tables of bridge were in play, with high scores, held by Mrs. Adam Zaiser and Mrs. Irwin F. Landis; and Herbert L. Hill and Paul Bailey.

Those in attendance were the Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Hatter; Messrs. and Mesdames T. E. Stephensons, E. W. Nau, Earl S. Morrow, Edmund C. West, L. A. Chenoweth, W. B. Hellis, C. G. Twist, George L. Chapman, James L. Allen, L. G. Swales, Paul Bailey, H. T. Duckett, J. P. Hatzfeld, Ben Bies, Reeves Aylmore, C. P. Boyer, Adam Zaiser, Herbert L. Hill, F. H. Patterson, Robert S. Wade, F. J. Haddon and Ada Hellis; Misses Boyd Joplin, Margaret Patterson, Nan Mead, Lolita Mead and Gertrude Hellis; Mr. Mortimer Plum; Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Jardine of Orange; Dr. and Mrs. Melbourne Maboe of this city, formerly of Chicago, and Mrs. Kate Wing of Los Angeles.

Current Events Women Will Fill Baskets This Christmas

Members of the Ibbell Current Events section will turn their Christmas fund this year into baskets of food to be distributed among needy families of the community. It was decided at a meeting of that group at the Ibbell clubhouse yesterday, Mrs. Hugh Shields will head the committee in charge of this distribution and her assistants will be Mrs. Vernon M. Elythe and Mrs. Charles Swanner.

Hostesses at yesterday's affair were Mrs. Cyrus Lurker, Mrs. Harvey Spears and Mrs. Catharine Marble, who decorated luncheon tables with chrysanthemums and in other ways carried out an autumn color scheme.

Bridge prizes went to Mrs. Howard Rapp, high, who received an attractive flower bowl; Mrs. Harvey Gardner, second high, whose prize was an antique jewel box, and Mrs. Clarence Bond, low scorer, who was given a set of glass coasters.

Present yesterday were Mesdames Clyde Jenken, Howard Rapp, Ethel Lively, Clarence Nelson, Hugh Shields, Harvey Gardner, Clarence Bond, Lena Austin, Fred Newcomb, Harvey Bennett, Gussie Kettler, Margaret Holmes, Wade Warner, Claudine Irvine, N. E. Lents, Vernon M. Elythe, Charles Swanner, Loyal K. King, Miss Louise Tubbs and Mrs. C. G. Dowd, a new member.

Business Girls Enjoy Thanksgiving Dinner And Program

Their regular Thanksgiving dinner and program was enjoyed last evening by members of the Wrycende Macgarden club of the Y. W. C. A. who attended the session held in the Y. W. rooms. Appropriately, Miss Alma Carlson of the county welfare department, talked on "The Spirit of Giving and Why We Should Be Thankful."

Homer Chaney, assistant trust officer of the First National bank, gave the address of the evening, talking on the "Economic Side of Home Building." This was in keeping with the theme which the club has been considering for the past several weeks.

Miss Sallie Coe of Orange gave two vocal solos, accompanied the piano by her mother, Mrs. C. The short business session he was in charge of the president, Miss Audrey Chastain.

Mothers and Children Share Celebration Of Birthday

Mothers and their little daughters and sons were guests at an enjoyable party held the past week in honor of Jean Eleanor Woodward's fourth birthday anniversary, with her mother, Mrs. Elele Woodward, as hostess. She entertained in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Raitt, 1604 North Baker street.

Much time was spent outdoors, where pictures of the merry group were taken. Indoors, the little guests played with toys and enjoyed games until the refreshment hour, when ice cream and cake were served at tables prettily decked in pink and white.

Many bouquets of flowers contributed to the pretty theme, as did the caps and "pussy" balloons distributed as favors for all. The boys and girls were delighted with the lovely birthday cake lighted with small pink candles.

A pleasant feature of the day came when the little honoree opened the many pretty gifts which her friends had given her. Mothers and grandmothers present included Mrs. Alice Conner and daughter, Evelyn; Mrs. Hazel Durbin and daughter Dorcas-Anne; Mrs. Dorothy Smith and daughter, Peggy; Mrs. Frances Dennis and son, Billie; Mrs. Grace Anderson and son, William; Mrs. Alice Raitt and son, Ralph, Jr.; Mrs. Treasure Johnson and daughter, Marjorie; Mrs. Dorothy Finley and daughter, Evelyn-Jean; and Mrs. Murrell Woodward, of Santa Ana.

Mrs. Eleanor Woodward and daughter, Ruth, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Alice King and son, Dickie, and Little Bernice Williams, of Orange; Mrs. Mabel Brockett, Mrs. J. T. Raitt, Mrs. Emmet Raitt and daughter, Marjorie, and the hostess and the honoree, Mrs. Woodward and Jean Eleanor.

GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Merchant entertained the following guests at their home on East Stanford recently: Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Landis, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Landis, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Schauer, Albert Goddard, Mrs. Hockman Gilbert, Mrs. W. B. Thomason, the Misses Burrell, Childster, Ekdhall, Walker, Lemon, Sumnerfield, Durward and Toland. Most of the guests are teachers in the grammar school. Games were enjoyed and dainty refreshments served.

Fund for Welfare Work Enlarged by Benefit Bridge Luncheon

A generous sum to be used in welfare work among families of disabled veterans of the World War resulted from a delightful party given Monday afternoon when Mrs. S. W. Corie was hostess in her home, 817 Louise street. Members of the Women's Auxiliary of Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled Veterans of the World War, were guests at the affair.

Mrs. Corie began her hospitality by serving a delectable luncheon, features of which were in keeping with the holiday colors used in decorating. The salads were in red and green, and the plum pudding served for dessert was suggestive of Thanksgiving. Sprays of cheery cottonseed centered the tables where nut cups and other appointments were of much charm.

Nine tables of bridge were in session during the afternoon. Miss Daisy Williams and Mrs. Dania Leptien received prizes for scoring high and low, while Mrs. Charles Nussbaumer was awarded a special prize. Mrs. Jules Markel was presented with a gift in honor of her wedding anniversary.

Local Alumni Join U. C. L. A. Group

Fifteen new members have been added to the University of California at Los Angeles alumni lists from this community, according to Miss Lolita Mead, 2119 North Main street, who was appointed Orange county chairman for the university membership drive, held in conjunction with that institution's home-coming observance this weekend. U.C.L.A. alumni not already signed may still arrange for membership in the association according to Miss Mead, through whom application may be made.

Mothers Club Holds All Day Session

Comforts were tied and card table covers taped by members of the American Legion Auxiliary Mothers' club yesterday at an all-day meeting held at the Legion hall. The comforts, five in number, are to go to Mrs. Hazel Turton and her mother, while the covers were taped for the Legion Auxiliary.

A pot-luck luncheon was served at noon to members and visitors and announcement was made of the meeting to be held December 28. The club will contribute a comfort to the Auxiliary cedar chest, it was further announced.

Attending yesterday's meeting were Mesdames Mabel Leach, president; Hattie Stowe, Fannie Rose, Amy Stewart, Martha Elliott, Della Anderson, Edith Getty, Mary Van Wyck, Alma Kellogg, Mary Grisman, Margaret Hill and Elma McKay and Miss Ruth Stewart and Mesdames Minnie Eekies, Nora McCalla and Hazel Turton, guests.

Birthday Celebration Is Shared by Club

Special interest attached to the meeting of a Neighborhood card club held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Ella Campau, 501 French street, because of the birthday anniversary of the hostess which members of the group celebrated at their luncheon.

The luncheon was succeeded by an afternoon of bridge in which participated Mrs. W. L. Bullard, Mrs. Catherine Skiles, Miss Margaret Ore, Miss Lida Cruickshank, Mrs. John Wehrly, Mrs. Hugh C. Wiley and the hostess, Mrs. Ella Campau, Mrs. George S. Smith, who is traveling in the east, was absent from yesterday's affair.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Ten-Dollar Curtain Job

I've just had a hand in furnishing a pretty little apartment and am all agog to tell you how we curtailed the living room, bedroom and breakfast nook, all for less than $10, and did it beautifully.

The exposure was a northern one, so when we went shopping for bargains, we had in mind the buying of something that would add light to the room. We were lucky enough to find 36-inch theatrical gauze on sale at the tiny sum of 16 cents a yard, and in a wide range of colors. We chose a soft, two-toned yellow for the living room and bedroom, and a misty almond green organdie for the breakfast nook and kitchen (the organdie was found for 19 cents a yard on a sale).

The windows in bed and living rooms were arranged in triple sets, so we used two widths in each of the full-length curtains, put a four-inch ruffle on each curtain, and a diagonal casing that operated with pull cords, draping the curtains well above the mid-window.

This might not be practical for every apartment, but this one was well above the street and could afford to drape back its curtains. The organdie curtains were ruffled and tied back with flat bands of organdie, fastened with good-looking glass flowers, mounted on a nail head.

Twenty-four yards of gauze were used for the two sets of curtains, two sets of pull cords, 19 yards of organdie, six glass flower holders, and our own labor.

"LOCAL BOY—"

Here's Joe E. Brown, of the big mouth, who comes back to the Fox Broadway theater tomorrow in his latest comedy, "Local Boy Makes Good."

Letters Awarded La Habra Teams at School Luncheon

LA HABRA, Nov. 25.—Members of the boys' and girls' indoor baseball teams of the La Habra grammar school were guests of a group of teachers in the cafeteria room at noon today. Hosts for the affair were Mrs. Margaret West, Mrs. Eleanor Hayes, Mrs. Dora Linke, Miss Ruth M. Dickey, Miss Elaine Beam, Superintendent E. R. Berry, Frank A. Barrows, R. O. Wright, Joe Severns and L. E. Wiede.

The luncheon was given in appreciation of the splendid athletic work of the team this season. The main event of the affair was the awarding of the letters, emblems and stars to the players by Joe Severns.

The Washington and Lincoln sixth grade girls played off for winners in a game Tuesday afternoon, resulting in the Washington girls winning with a score of 8 to 6 and a silver cup was awarded this team. The sixth grade boys' team also received a cup and the first team of the Washington school received a plaque.

Officers of Brea O. E. S. Entertained in Compton Home

BREA, Nov. 25.—Officers of Brea chapter of Eastern Star for the term just completed were guests of Mrs. Sylvia Frye, worthy matron, and Dr. W. E. Jackson, worthy patron, at a dinner given at the Frye home in Compton recently.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, Dr. and Mrs. Jackson, of Brea, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Clayton, of Fullerton, Mr. and Mrs. William Lytle, of Yorba Linda; Mesdames L. A. Sayles, W. D. Shaffer, Harry Yarbrough, Grant Sandman, J. H. Greist, Lester Lemmon, Fred Woodward, Oliver Crowl and Associate Patron R. G. Russell, all of Brea.

The four-course turkey dinner was served at one long table, the centerpiece of which was a star worked out in flowers and candles, carrying the symbolic colors of the points. Place cards and other appointments emphasized the Eastern Star motif.

530 BOOKS GIVEN SPANISH VILLAGE

SAN CLEMENTE, Nov. 25.—The foundation of a city library for San Clemente was laid yesterday when Charley Watkins and W. G. Watkins, his father, presented to the mayor and city council a library of more than 530 books. The books have a value of more than $1000.

The library is founded as a memorial to Lieut. Edwin S. Watkins, of the 149th United States Field Artillery, Rainbow division.

Mayor Thomas F. Murphy said yesterday that the books would be placed in the municipally owned Social club and that the gift would be the start of this city's own library. The books will be listed and made ready to loan to residents. It is thought that other citizens will make donations to the library.

At present San Clemente has a branch of the Orange county library system.

"POSSESSED" ENDS S. A. RUN TODAY

Final showing of "Possessed," the new and startling Joan Crawford picture, which has been showing at the Fox Broadway theater for the past several days, will be made tonight.

With Clark Gable as Miss Crawford's leading man, for the first time, the picture is the story of a girl who goes to New York with one idea—to land a man with money. She does and learns there is something else in life.

The story is modern to the nth degree, and Miss Crawford is seen in the type of role best suited for her. Gable gives his usual appealing performance.

HOOT GIBSON SHOWS AT WALKER STATE

Current attraction at Walker's State theater will be Hoot Gibson in "The Gay Buckaroo," which is said to be a stirring, exciting romance of the old Southwest.

Departing from his usual characterization, Hoot essays the part of an economical horse-rancher of Yankee antecedents who finds it necessary to become a "gay buckaroo" in order to win the girl he loves. He changes his costume but not his nature. He spends money lavishly, but can't forget the value of a dollar, can't give away a good cigar without telling how much it cost. Eventually he finds another solution to his problem of winning the girl—but before he can work it out, he is involved in an exciting drama of cowtown villainy.

86 JOIN RED CROSS IN LA HABRA DRIVE

LA HABRA, Nov. 25.—Homer A. Randall, chairman of the local Red Cross drive, reports that 86 memberships have been sold, but that he is in hopes that this number will be increased to at least 100.

The Junior Red Cross drive started in full swing in the La Habra schools Monday morning and will continue through Wednesday.

"CONSOLATION MARRIAGE" ON AT WEST COAST

"Consolation Marriage," starring Pat O'Brien, who will be remembered as the police reporter in "The Front Page," and Irene Dunn, supported by a cast which includes Myrna Loy and Matt Moore, opens today at the Fox West Coast theater.

It is the story of an agreement of consolation marriage made and entered into by a boy and a girl, both seeking consolation for another love affair. Both parties agree that either may call it quits at any time, or in case either strays, the finder may either keep or return same to owner with no questions asked.

They apologize to their friends for their strange marital arrangement, explaining that it was like football, with substitutes, but they find in the end a different kind of a marriage than they expected.

Aside from the picture the weekly Fun Frolic and stage revue, with many valuable gifts for persons in the audience is slated for tonight, with Eddie Mahoney acting as master of ceremonies and a number of good stage acts booked for the occasion.

teler, William Burriss, John Harrington and many others. Mervyn LeRoy directed the picture, which is based on a play by J. C. and Elliott Nugent.

In "Local Boy Makes Good" Joe Brown gets his laughs, not by his usual slapstick methods, but by the naturalness and humanity of his portrayal.

NEEDLE REMOVED

LA HABRA, Nov. 25.—Joan Clark, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Clark, underwent an operation on her hand Tuesday afternoon for the removal of a needle. The needle was driven into the child's hand and broken off when she fell at play the first part of the week.

THE TINYMITES
STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The dog cart rumbled down the street and Clowny cried, "Gee, we could beat most anything, if we could get into a thrilling race. The dogs hitched to this car can run like everything. It's lots of fun. I think that Bow-wow Land is ready quite a lovely place."

One of the dogs hitched up in front said, "Well show you a tricky stunt. Hang on real tight so you won't fall out of the little cart. When we come to a corner we are going to turn it rapidly." "Oh, my," cried Clowny, "I just hope the cart won't fall apart."

In just about a moment they began to feel the small cart sway. It went around the corner and tipped up on just one wheel. The tiny ones grabbed each other quick, so were not thrown out by the trick. One dog looked back and shouted, "Well, how did that quick turn feel?"

"It made me dizzy," Scouty said. "I guess my blood rushed to my head. But now I feel all right." The rest cried, "So are we!" They rode for half an hour or so. Then Clowny loudly shouted, "Whoa! We'd better rest. You dogs look just as tired as I can be."

The dogs slowed down and finally stopped and to the ground the tiny ones hopped. "That was a great ride," Carry cried. "Now we'll return the treat. You dogs hop in the cart and then we'll travel on our way again. I guess that we are strong enough to pull you down the street."

This pleased the dogs and they barked loud. Each one of them began to crowd into the cart and Carry said, "There's room enough for all. And, if this ride's to turn out nice you'd better take my kind advice. Hang on, just like you told us to. Then none of you will fall."

(Clowny and Scouty have a race in the next story.)

La Habra Avocado Growers Plan War On Thieves

COUNTY FRUIT PATROL SOUGHT BY COMMITTEE

LA HABRA, Nov. 25.—A group of La Habra growers met at the city hall yesterday to discuss ways and means of combating the wholesale theft of avocados from the groves, by means of a fruit patrol.

A list of about 16 growers who have suffered losses this season was presented and the list will be checked and a statement secured from each grower, that these facts may be put formally up to the sheriff of Orange and Los Angeles counties.

A committee was appointed at this meeting to look into the matter of the fruit patrol and consult with the officers in each of the counties. Members of the committee are Edwin G. Hart, Tom Ingersoll, Edward Beck, Joe Sansonina, Frank D. Helm and R. F. Frantz.

Those present at the meeting were E. C. Dutton, field manager of the Calavo Growers' association; Bob Ward, Ross N. Hodson, Edward Beck, M. J. Pickering, president of the La Habra Farm center; Ray F. Frantz, director of the fifth district of the Calavo association; Edgar Leutwiler and F. D. Halm, chairman of the Orange County Farm Bureau avocado department.

AFRICAN LIFE DESCRIBED FOR CLUB MEMBERS

BREA, Nov. 25.—Members of the women's organizations of the various churches were guests Tuesday afternoon of the Brea Woman's club at a regular meeting of that organization.

Dr. Charles Hurlbut, for many years a missionary in various parts of Africa, later a Bible lecturer and teacher, addressed the club women and their guests. Dr. Hurlbut told of his experiences with the African people and concluded his talk with remarks on the American institution of Thanksgiving.

Mrs. C. O. Harvey read a poem on Thanksgiving and Little Miss Georgia Nicklett contributed two piano numbers to the program.

Mrs. Frank Schweitzer presided in the absence of Mrs. Frances Davis, who is still not able to be out. Announcement was made of the reciprocity day meeting of the Brea club December 8, with Mrs. O. S. Close as hostess chairman. Mrs. Close will be assisted by a large committee as many club women from the county clubs are expected to be present. No meeting of the garden section will now be held until after the first of the year, it was announced by the chairman, Mrs. John Cox.

Mrs. John Burquist, hostess chairman for yesterday's meeting, was assisted by Mrs. R. W. Spensley, Mrs. Schweitzer, Mrs. Harlan Letcra and Mrs. Frank Tippin in serving tea following the program. Club rooms and dining room were decorated with yellow chrysanthemums and these and yellow candles were used at the tea table which was centered with a huge basket of fruit and autumn leaves.

H. B. NEEDY TO GET BASKETS ON THANKSGIVING

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 25.—The Welfare committee and the schools will provide Thanksgiving dinner for the needy of this city and the rural communities of this high school district. The Girls' league of the high school is sponsoring the work for the high school. The elementary school children brought contributions for Thanksgiving baskets. In all more than 40 families will be presented with Thanksgiving dinners.

The Girls' league furnished milk, bread and butter for the baskets. The elementary school children contributed canned goods, preserves and assorted food. The Welfare committee provided meat and fresh vegetables.

The Girls' league assisted today Mrs. Will H. Jones, chairman of the philanthropy committee of the P. T. A., and member of the Welfare committee, in filling and distributing the baskets over the city and the school district.

Last night at the high school a benefit program was sponsored by the league to raise funds to help with the welfare work. The program under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Harlow, supervisor of music, was well attended. Miss Margaret Squires directed the instrumental music numbers on the program, which was contributed entirely by high school students.

On Tuesday the alumni and high school varsity teams will play a benefit football game to provide funds for welfare work. The Huntington Beach Municipal band will play during the game. There will be a parade through the business district led by the band.

SOREN CHRISTENSEN SERVICES FRIDAY

FULLERTON, Nov. 25.—Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. for Soren Christensen, 88, of Garden Grove, who died yesterday morning. Services will be held at the McAuley and Suters funeral chapel in this city.

Mr. Christensen was an orange grower in the Garden Grove district, where he had lived for 41 years. He was born in Romo, Denmark, and at the present time he has a brother and sister living there. He also leaves six children, Mrs. Clara M. Boyer, of Idaho, Miss Soren Christensen, of Los Angeles, and Carl J. Christensen, Henry W. Christensen, E. M. Christensen, and Albert R. Christensen, all of Garden Grove.

The Rev. Paul Younger, Dr. F. P. Rossetol and the Rev. H. B. Spayd, all of Garden Grove, will speak at the funeral services. Burial will be in Loma Vista cemetery in Fullerton.

"Lost" Money Is Found In Safe by Police Officers

FULLERTON, Nov. 25.—James Pearson, Fullerton chief of police, had a bit of detective work to do yesterday as the Fullerton jail had apparently been robbed.

Bond money to the extent of $75 had been left at the police station on a minor charge and had been placed safely in the safe and locked up. Officers who were in charge during the different shifts were questioned. They knew nothing about the missing money.

A careful search instituted by Sergeant John Gregory found the money, all too safely tucked away in a little used compartment of the safe, just where it had been placed.

BROTHERHOOD URGED TO TAKE PART IN COMMUNITY AFFAIRS

LA HABRA, Nov. 25.—Dr. H. M. Pierce, of Riverside, was the main speaker at the M. E. Brotherhood meeting Tuesday evening. He talked on world conditions, describing the causes for unrest in the various organizations, companies and finally in the churches. He said too many of the church people are affected with sleeping sickness, that they should be awakened, that the dead wood should be kindled, and that industry and action would stabilize this unsettled condition.

He urged the brotherhood to take an active interest in problems of the church and community. He announced the state convention of the brotherhood associations to be held in Pasadena January 22, 23 and 24 and urged as many as possible to attend.

He was accompanied by J. M. Ferguson and M. C. Munson of Riverside, who gave short talks on the work of the brotherhood in Riverside. Mr. Munson told of the censorship committee they have in connection with the movies. He stated that only about 18 per cent of the present sound pictures were suitable for children to see and that they in Riverside are doing much to see that the proper films are shown.

J. A. Scofield, president of the La Habra brotherhood, presided at the meeting, which was attended by more than 40. It was announced that the next meeting would be the Christmas meeting and the brotherhood expressed their willingness to join with the Ladies' Aid in their regular annual Christmas church dinner in place of holding a separate meeting in December.

CHINA, CRYSTAL DISCUSSED AT CLUB SESSION
HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 25.—At the Woman's club program yesterday afternoon H. T. Smith, of Santa Ana, talked on "The Romance of China and Crystal." He brought to the club rooms a beautiful display of chinaware and crystalware.

Mr. Smith dwelt at length on English chinaware, stating that a high tariff protected American china manufacturing plants from competition with foreign wares. He gave a full history of china and crystal from the clay beds to the finished products on sale in the retail stores.

Mrs. Sylvia Conrad and Mrs. Stella White gave reports on the convention of the southern district of Woman's clubs at Laguna Beach last week. Tea and waifers were served at the close of the program.

SHOWER IS HELD IN IRVINE HOME

IRVINE, Nov. 25.—Mrs. Ralph Stone entertained a group of friends at her home recently, honoring her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ervin Stone, of Huntington Park, at a miscellaneous shower. After an afternoon of games and contests, Mrs. Stone was seated at the table where she opened the gifts given her by her friends.

Mrs. Stone, assisted by her daughters, Evelyn and Lois, served refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee to Mrs. Fursch, Mrs. Beth Brader, Mrs. Eddie Sears, Mrs. J. F. Stone, Mrs. Theodore Starkey, Mrs. Daisy Stone, Mrs. P. F. Carl, Mrs. Thomas Shedden, Mrs. William Whitehead, Mrs. Earl Marshall, Mrs. Owen Murray, Mrs. Penlon Mathews, Mrs. Jay Harlow, Mrs. Newt Penman, Mrs. Charles Pique, Mrs. Curtis Stone, Mrs. Will Kellams, Mrs. Tom Johnson, of Huntington Park, Mrs. Henry Boosey, and the honored guest, Mrs. Ervin Stone.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Hazen, Mr. and Mrs. Cadette Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Parham and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boosey were among the Irvine people who enjoyed the occasion. Mrs. Stone was accompanied by Betty Blythe, who gave two vocal selections. Mrs. A. L. Cook was accompanist. The hostess served pumpkin pie and coffee, assisted by Mrs. F. Guthrie and Mrs. C. McProud.

Mrs. C. R. Lundy will be hostess at the next meeting December 4 with a box social and musical. Mrs. Lundy's grandsons, Raymond Hill, will give several selections on the clarinet. Mr. Hill is solo clarinetist for the Los Angeles Junior college band.

Party Is Held In Fuller Park

FULLER PARK, Nov. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Res Blythe entertained the Fuller Park Community club recently at their home. Games and singing made the evening a pleasant one. Betty Blythe, accompanied by Ruby Blythe, gave two vocal selections. Mrs. A. L. Cook was accompanist. The hostess served pumpkin pie and coffee, assisted by Mrs. F. Guthrie and Mrs. C. McProud.

HUSBANDS ARE CLUB GUESTS IN GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 25.—Members of the Entre Nous club entertained their husbands with a program dinner recently. Mrs. E. A. Wakeham, assisted by Mrs. L. W. Evans, of Orange, served the cocktail course at her home on Magnolia avenue. The salad course was served at the home of Mrs. Harry Meyer with Mrs. J. A. Williams co-hostess. The guests were seated at card tables, which had been arranged near the fireplace. The Thanksgiving motif was used.

The group then drove to the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Dozier on West Chapman avenue where the main course was served. Mrs. Dozier was assisted by Mrs. A. F. Mills, Mrs. R. M. Fay and Miss Ethel Archer. The long table was centered with a basket of lovely fruits and autumn leaves and tall yellow tapers. The place cards held conundrums which were read aloud.

The dessert course was served by Mrs. R. R. Rossetol and Mrs. Noral Evans, of Orange, at the former's home on West Chapman avenue. Tiny corn stalks were used as place cards. In each stalk was hidden a slip of paper giving a subject for the guests to make a two-minute speech. Witty stunts were given by Mrs. Rossetol and Mrs. Evans and different games were enjoyed.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Evans, of Orange, Mr. and Mrs. Noral Evans, of Orange, Mrs. R. M. Fay and Miss Ethel Archer, of Anaheim; Mrs. A. F. Mills, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Dozier, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Rossetol, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wakeham.

Hold Discussion On Water Disposal Plant On Dec. 14

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 25.—A conference for the discussion of a waste water disposal plant for the Huntington Beach field will be held December 14 at the city hall. Oil operators, city and county officials and representatives of the state mining and oil bureau and fish game commission are expected to attend.

The city officials and president Osborn of the chamber of commerce favor the waste water disposal plant, which is also favored by state officials. The smaller oil operators are opposing it on the ground that the wells in the field are mostly "strippers" and will not justify the expense of installing a disposal plant for waste water.

JOINT CHURCH SERVICES HELD THIS EVENING

FULLERTON, Nov. 25.—Joint Thanksgiving services will be held tonight at the First Christian Church, with the Presbyterian, Episcopal, Baptist, Methodist and Nazarene churches taking part.

A number of musical numbers will be given by a quartet consisting of Mrs. Dorothy Horner, Mrs. Vinton Lee, Gordon Drew and George Buchanan.

The Thanksgiving sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Graham C. Hunter. The Rev. C. E. Mal-tas, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, will give a Thanksgiving prayer, the Rev. F. E. Hawes of the Baptist church, will read the scripture message.

CARD PARTY FRIDAY

BREA, Nov. 25.—Another benefit card party will be given Friday evening, by a committee of members of the American Legion auxiliary of Brea. The party will be held in the Legion hall and both bridge and "500" will be played. Refreshments will be served following the playing.

SECOND SACRED MUSICAL GIVEN IN SEAL BEACH

SEAL BEACH, Nov. 25.—The second sacred musical of a series, one being given on the last Sunday evening of each month, was presented at the Methodist Community church on Central avenue in Seal Beach Sunday night. The program was made up of numbers given entirely by local townspeople. The Thanksgiving theme was carried out in the selection of numbers and in the short talk which was given by the pastor, the Rev. D. W. Will.

The civic orchestra under the direction of Ralph L. Paddock opened the program with three selections. Mrs. Mary Taylor was accompanist. Directed by the church musical director, Ross E. Paris, the congregation sang "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow." A religious anthem was rendered by the church choir, and that was followed by a choral number by the local Women's club sextette, which consists of Mrs. Mary Washburn, Mrs. Louise Helm, Mrs. J. T. Young, Mrs. Jesse Reed, Mrs. Marie Ward, and Mrs. F. G. Johns. Fred Smith gave a baritone solo and Mrs. J. J. Young and Ross E. Paris gave a duet. A. E. Walker gave two vocal numbers which were followed by a number by the church quartet, consisting of Fred Smith, Ross Paris, William Taylor and Willis Ward.

Mrs. Ruth Patterson played "Whispering Hope" on an instrumental harp, and the mixed quartet, Fred Smith, Mrs. J. J. Young, Willis Ward and Mrs. Marie Ward, closed the program with a hymnal of praise.

AFFAIRS IN EUROPE

Turning our attention for the moment from Manchuria there is a continuous crisis in Europe. A writer in the December Atlantic monthly sets forth France's jockeying for position. Coming as it does along with numbers of articles of similar tenor, one is led to accept the statement without much question.

And side by side with these reports from France come harrowing tales from Germany where the people are living in tent colonies because they can no longer pay rents and taxes. France is the hope left. The United States has done what it could, but it was not enough, and the Germans admit some mistakes in administration, spending too much for internal improvements. France, it is anticipated, will make demands on Germany's revenues and industries which will amount to vital control in Germany, the return to Germany being financial loans. No, the war is not over. One must watch events and read between the lines. Germany is desperate, the German people are so hard pressed they are threatening the government with chaos.

"The means to world peace and to civilization today," says this writer in the Atlantic, "is thus a conflict of ideals. America, England, Germany, Japan and Italy think in terms of trade; France, free from the harrowing terrors of declining trade, thinks in terms of political security — and perhaps of world power."

The article is not only informative but it is advisory as far as France is concerned. France may succeed in bringing a large number of the European members of the League of Nations under her domination through the skilful use of her hoard of gold. But the position will have its drawbacks for the rest of the world will become distrustful and resistant.

In conclusion this author says in part: "France can create a balance of power in the world much more sinister than that which existed in 1914. She can do more to retard the world's hopes of security through a world alliance than has been accomplished since medieval days. Her suggestion to place all the armies of Europe under the control of the League as a means of disarmament would not be smiled at everywhere where her plan to use gold to rule the League not so apparent."

STRANGE NEWS FOR THESE DAYS OF CHARITY DRIVES

As Will Rogers is in the habit of saying: "All I know is what I read in the papers." And here are some of the things which we have been reading: A cargo of bananas was dumped into the sea at Baltimore because there was no sale for them; the cotton crop is so large that they are burning it in the South; Brazil has just burned up 100,000 bags of coffee. And all over the country we are raising funds to help the unemployed during the coming hard winter.

There is much more that is not in the newspapers. The Farm Board has millions of bushels of wheat that it cannot sell. Tons and tons of fruit are rotting on the ground in the East and the Middle West. Can nothing be done about these things? As individuals we are helpless, but cannot organized society do something to bring these necessities to the people who need them? We are of the opinion that the next generation will stand aghast at our stupidity. The historian of the future will be amazed that with every conceivable means of transportation and communication, such things were possible.

Let us cry, "America, awake!" Surely there must be brains enough in a country like this to devise something better. We have the goods; we have the sympathy and concern. Now let us be done with this contradiction in our economic life.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

A news item tucked away in a corner of a recent issue of the New York Times noted the fact that for the first time in its existence, the steamship "President Roosevelt" was to sail from another wharf than the American Line wharf. Following that bit of news was the more significant item that among its passengers were 200 American workmen going to Soviet Russia where they had obtained jobs in the new automobile plant at Nijni-Novgorod.

Time was when those seeking economic betterment turned their eyes and their footsteps toward America. Who would have thought in those days when the hunted and hungry of the world came to our shores for bread that the time would come when American citizens would have to leave their native land to find work in a foreign country.

This is something for our political leaders and industrial leaders to think about. For ourselves we cannot understand why any one should want to leave the United States for Russia; but we are not without a job. A century ago, when Thomas Carlyle was interested in the Chartist movement in England, he said, "Heaven looks down upon nothing more tragic on this earth than a workman seeking for a job, and unable to find one." Some can conceive of this only in imagination, for they have never experienced it. Yet the tragedy for many is here, and the 200 men sailing on the "President Roosevelt" brings the tragedy close home.

UPTON SINCLAIR'S "WET PARADE"

It is strange to see Upton Sinclair in the role of a passionate "dry" advocate. It is not a role which is often played by those who are much concerned for the social welfare. There are all too many who are interested in the alleviation of human distress caused by selfish exploitation, by poor housing, by the lack of opportunity, and low wages, who love at the same time to deride the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act.

The more surprised we are, therefore, to find Upton Sinclair so firmly seated on the water wagon. Yet, Upton Sinclair is consistent; and William A. Green, Matthew Woll, and all the rest of the friends of the poor and the workers, who are advocating a return to the days of the legalized liquor traffic, are frightfully inconsistent. How any man who is interested in the lot of the underprivileged and the exploited can ask for the repeal of the prohibitory laws is not within our comprehension.

"The Wet Parade" has been called another Uncle Tom's Cabin, and we think rightly so. The story of Maggie May, with a drunken father, a husband killed by a bootlegger, is most appealing. With all the vividness and realism of which he is capable, Upton Sinclair tells the story of this unfortunate and harassed woman. "Prohibition has not failed," he says, "it has not been tried. Try it!" Prohibitionists are not all pharisaical politicians, according to his thinking. They are largely men and women who are determined that the succeeding generation shall not drink of this same cup of suffering. "The Wet Parade" is an impressive tract for the times.

Building Toward the Future

Christian Science Monitor

"These queer wall decorations and these semi-tropical colors are too modernistic for me," remarked a visitor the other day as he strolled, astonished, from room to room in a recently opened headquarters of a metropolitan clubhouse. His inspection had brought him face to face with artistic scroll ventilators for air conditioning, with built-in radio sets, with diffused lights skirting gayly tinted ceilings, with paintings of forest and sea set in window casements that they might blot out ugly walls and streets. He had encountered also in this utilitarian structure a miniature chapel for religious meditation and a spacious library. "I repeat, all this is so different and so extraordinary that I cannot get adjusted to the idea. Perhaps I'm too old-fashioned to appreciate so much novelty," added the visitor as he tarried a minute with the executive secretary of the organization.

"I don't wonder you feel that way about it," answered his guide with a smile, "but we cannot erect great buildings today on the blue-prints of forty years ago. We must build twenty years into the future, in order to be ready for revolutionary changes when they have been finally approved and adopted. This building and its furnishings will itself be outdistanced in another decade or two. Then we must again modernize."

The spokesman of the changing day is undoubtedly correct in his point of view. The hands of the clock of time move forward, not backward. Old customs yield to more intelligent practices developed by invention and discovery; beauty relentlessly crowds out the ugliness of yesterday; comfort and convenience displace the unnecessary and uninspiring monotony accepted by a less exacting generation. Mere change is not progress, nor is modernism necessarily beauty, but gains in improved thinking, wider mental horizons, and greater discrimination are reflected naturally in improved surroundings.

Singing Memories

Christian Science Monitor

Songs of the popular class in recent days seem to have found their chief inspiration in memories, memories awakened by the moon coming over the mountain or the mirth-producing effects of rain. The fact is notable, for it is not so long since the vocal expression of joy had its chief source in a complete lack on the part of the singer of that most estimable fruit, the banana. Now, why the transition should be from bananas to memories is not quite clear, except it be that bananas are so cheap that no one can complain, in song, of their inability to purchase them, and memories...

Boasting at any time is vulgar, therefore the boast that you "have no bananas" is to be deplored. But memories? They are worth while, if they hark back to noble deeds and happy accomplishments, if they dwell upon enrichment through knowledge (for has it not been said that each new scholar is something added to the commonwealth?) or if they afford an inspiration for better things to come. It was a memory of a chord of music, a chord struck on a never-to-be-forgotten day on the organ, that brought fame to Adelaida Proctor. It is the memory of the deeds of the great men that inspires the generations that follow. So hail to the songs of memories!

California Fifth in Power at G. O. P. Convention

San Bernardino Sun

Fifth of the political results of the increased population for California will come in the increased representation in the Republican national convention. This state will have 47 votes as contrasted with 29 in the old allotment. California will be the fifth state in the point of voting power in the convention. The Democrats have not decided as to whether the 1910 or the 1930 census shall prevail in the list of state representation. The reason for the disagreement is inside Democratic politics. The additional Congressmen do not come until the elections of 1932, following the conventions.

The Sour Note

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE HOME HUNTER

I've never found a rustic cot
By dell or stream or mountain brow
But some one said that it was not
A place where he could park his cow.
I've never found a sunny farm
Secluded from the beaten track
But friends have cried in deep alarm,
"Great snakes! Don't buy that awful shack!"

The dwelling, which beside the vale
Alight with golden sunshine stood,
Bill said the next September gale
Would blow to shreds of kindling wood.
And when a moosey mouse I spied
With silver birches ringed about,
"Lay off of THAT dump," Johnny cried,
"The rats and ants will drive you out!"

Beside a winding country road,
As I pursued my eager quest,
I saw a picturesque abode
That seemed to breathe of peace and rest.
But Arthur, whom I showed it to,
Cried, "Have a little sense, old chap,
You want a place that has a view;
Besides, the thing's a fire trap!"

Some day I'm going to have a home
Set in a mild and restful scene
Beside a brook that churns to foam
On rounded boulders, gray and green.
Where summer mornings I can lie
And hear the birds, and watch the trout,
But I shall buy it on the sly
Before my friends can find it out.

Uncommon Sense

BY JOHN BLAKE

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

When the board of directors of a business corporation needs a new general manager, it is extremely careful about selecting him.

Before the vote is taken, the qualifications of a number of men are examined, the candidates are brought in and questioned, and their records are carefully looked into.

The result is that, whatever may be the faults of the directors, the man who actually runs the business is competent and industrious.

But when the great board of directors who constitute the electorate of a city need an executive to run their business, which is of the utmost importance to them, they usually take the word of a party boss, or choose a man who may be in the public eye and a present favorite.

You, if you are a voter, probably consider the qualifications of a candidate for public office less than you would consider those of a cook or a nurse girl before you hired her.

Your comfort and that of your family depends in a large measure on the way the affairs of the city in which you live are conducted.

Your business will prosper or fail according to the honesty and ability of the men in charge of the city government.

Yet it is probable that on election day you ask some neighbor what candidate he was going to vote for, and followed his lead.

It is still more probable that you forgot to vote altogether. As long as people pay less attention to their politics than they do to their amusements, they can hardly expect to be well or even honestly governed.

Graft will always flourish when voters are indifferent. Now and then, when some flagrant case of wrongdoing is exposed, the people really come out and vote.

For a time the reascally is ended.

But naturally the organization behind the reascally is always on the alert, and as soon as there ensues another period of indifference, which is very shortly, it gets itself into the offices again, and resumes plundering with the same callous indifference to any interest other than that of the grafters who control it.

Think this over now and then for the next year, and maybe you will by that time know enough about the qualifications of the candidates to vote with discrimination, and to accomplish useful results.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

TAKING THE SOAPBOX INDOORS

The soapbox has long been located on the street corner and occupied by the proletarian agitator. Sound economic statesmanship suggests that it be taken indoors, set up in the directors room, and that it be henceforth occupied by the industrial administrator. I mean this quite literally. The distribution of wealth has long been a favorite topic to be talked from the soapbox. The proletarian agitator has insisted that the concentration of a nation's wealth in the hands of a few is unjust, and he has pleaded, therefore, for a wider distribution of wealth. For a long while this plea was considered a serious danger to capitalist industrialism. Men who talked too freely about a wider distribution of wealth were jeered at and sometimes jailed. Today events are proving that a wider distribution of wealth is essential to the solvency and success of capitalist industrialism. Science and technology have given us the power to produce in amazing volume and with astounding rapidity. Unless we can bring millions upon millions of men and women into position to buy this lavish output, even our existing investment in this marvelous producing machine will be frozen. A wide distribution of wealth means money in the hands of those who will spend it for consumer-goods. A too great concentration of wealth means money in the hands of those who will invest it in producer-goods. It has thus come about that the plutocrat has an even greater stage than the proletarian in the widest feasible distribution of the nation's wealth. Not in the superficial and sophomoric sense of dividing up by decree the wealth already in existence, but in the statesmanlike sense of so balancing the factors of wages, profits, hours, prices, and so on, that, in the very process of producing wealth, industry will be making its market while it is making its goods. We shall emerge into a stabilized prosperity to the degree that we take the soapbox indoors and the administrator takes the place of the agitator in handling this crucial issue of the distribution of wealth. "SPANK HIM"

Little Peter was out of sorts. "I don't care, I want to, I want to, I want to," he roared again and again with increasing power. "Peter, I tell you that you cannot go out without your boots and your sweater. It is snowing." "I don't care, I want to, I want to, I want to," he roared again and again with increasing power. "You are not going, Peter." "Wow," yowled Peter, and down he went on the hard floor kicking, tossing his arms, banging his head like a mad thing. His mother looked aghast but she shut her mouth hard and looked out of the window. "Wow, ow, ow, I want to," with more thumps and bumps. Mother sat perfectly still and looked out of the window. "What's all this?" asked Aunt Lavina coming in from the porch room. "Why, Mabel, the child will kill himself." "No, he won't," said mother with stern quiet in her voice. "He won't hurt himself." "Goodness, I never heard of such a thing. Pick him up and quiet him." Mother locked her hands in her lap and gazed out of the window. Peter gave a wicked howl, opened a wary eye and peeked at his mother. Then he gave another howl and peeked at Aunt Lavina. She caught him at it. "Mabel that child is putting this on for a purpose. He needs a spanking if ever a child did." Mother made no sign. Peter rolled over and got up snuffling and grunting but somewhat changed in mood. "Mr. Peter will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply." (Copyright, 1931, The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WORLD WAR
ANNIVERSARY

VISIT LAFAYETTE TOMB

On November 25, 1917, Colonel House, General Bliss, and Admiral Benson and other members of the American mission visited the Picpus cemetery, and placed on the tomb of Lafayette a floral wreath bearing the inscription: "From the American War Mission, in grateful remembrance."

Meantime, French forces in the Verdun sector captured first and second German lines and deep dug-outs between Samogneux and the region to the south of the Anglemont Farm. The British battled for Bourlon Wood.

The First Italian army went into action on the offensive at Meletta and captured some machine guns.

Venice was raided by Austrian albatrosses.

U. S. Engineer Kenneth Smith, Frank J. Brady, gunner and I. F. Wilkenson, mechanic, were rescued off the French coast from
